Comic Aspect.

WASHINGTON, July 11.—South American diplomats are much interested in the press reports that Bolivia has presented the ultimatum to Peru, which the latter has rejected, and that Bolivia and Eucador have formed an alliance with the prospect of making war on Peru. Peru's former strength has disappeared since her war with Chile. The Chileans took all the Peruvian warships, and it is believed that the one old transport is all that remains of the Peruvian navy. The army is said to number 4000 men.

Bolivia has no navy, and her army is said to be about the same as that of Peru. She is entirely inland since the war with Chile, when Chile took possession of those provinces which had formed Bolivia's coastline. Ecuador is said to be in good fighting trim, as she has just emerged from a revolution, and all her people are in arms; but her navy is insignificant, her only good warship having been sold to Japan some months ago. It looks, therefore, to those conversant with the situation, that these crippled countries would not engage in a very formidable war. They cannot fight by sea, and there are great stretches of desolate and mountainous country between them. Chile is in no way interested in the trouble. The last war appears to have established her firmly as mistress of the west coast of South America.

Clemens returned from Europe six weeks ago, and has since been under the doctor's care. Colby says that Clemens has, to the best of his ability, devoted himself to seeing Coloy says that Clemens has, to the best of his ability, devoted himself to seeing that the creditors of the late publishing firm are satisfied. Lawyer Wilder has begun the examination of Clemens by asking him many questions about his relations with a publishing firm since it was formed in 1885. In his answers Clemens confined himself to facts and figures. He seemed to regard the proceedings as too serious for any flashes of humor. Before the publishing firm failed, Clemens transferred to his wife thirty-three copyrights covering all his works. Lawyer Wilder says that he does not allege that this was done to defraud credition, but he wanted to know why it had been done. The firm was indebted to Miss Clemens for $65,000, and it was to protect her claim that the copyright transfer was made. In return, she waived her rights to any share of the firm's other assets.

The humorist gave a history of his connection with the firm. He said that his wife inherited money from her father. The hope of Lawyer Wilder is that the court may set aside the transfer and give Russell & Son a lien upon the copyrights. Besides an alternative writ of mandamus to compel the passage of an ordinance provided for in the contract, the complaint asks that injunctions be issued restraining the company from shutting off water from private consumers, and also compelling the corporation, its agents and employees, to desist from influencing the members of the Council to act contrary to their duty under the contract.

The complaint charges that the members of the clty administration, especially the Councilmen, secured their election by making a pledge, which they have not redeemed, to adjust the rates according to contract, and the water company is accused of having by bribery, cajolery and threats, prevented the passage of an ordinance which would fulfill the provisions of the contract.

At a conference between the Mayor and the members of the City Council today it was practically decided to buy the waterworks. The Mayor will ask the company to name price and terms for its plant immediately.

NEW YORK BANKERS.

Resolution Declaring for "Hones Money" and Opposing the Free Coinage of Silver is Adopted-An Address by Ex-Congres

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.) SARATOGA (N. Y.,) July 11.—This was the second day of the New York State Bankers' Association meeting P. Hepburn of New York, chairman of the Committee on "Sound Money Resolutions, offered a resloution declar-ing for "honest money," opposing in-flation and free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1.

Ex-Congressman Harter, of the Coin-ige, Weights and Measures Committee of the Fifty-third Congress, delivered an address on "Money" this morning

"If the free-coinage men were compelled to organize a party of their own, their numbers would prove ridiculously small; only tolerable, perhaps, by comparison with Coxey's army. Let us make it safe and sure by redeeming and cancelling the greenbacks and getting the government out of all banking business; letting the people conduct their own business, and supply all the paper money they need, providing for its prompt redemption in gold, and let the nations know that the United States is for all tme a 'sound-money, honest-dollar' nation."

"The Money Question in the West" was the subject of an address by H. A. Yates, president of the Nebraska National Bank of Omaha. Yates denied that silver had been demonetized. It is still money, he claimed, but its existence as money is threatened.

The metal silver, he said, has lost its character of money in the gold-standard countries, and the same destroa-ence as money is threatened.

The metal silver, he said, has lost its character of money in the gold-standard countries, and the same destruction is threatened in the countries still holding to its use. The use of silver for fractional currency and, perhaps, for money in sums of $10 and under, while it would benefit silver to some extent, would not be sufficient to steady its value. Silver must be made just as completely money as gold is money, or it is doomed and will eventually go the way of copper and brass. Is the world prepared for this contingency, whether it comes quickly, or is strung out through a century? It would mean the destruction of capital to the extent that silver now represents capital.

The Hepburn resolution was considered this afternoon and adopted.

The following officers were elected: President, James Cannon; vice-president, G. B. Sloan; treasurer, A. B. Bisall severetary. Ledward Corgawall.

, G. B. S sell, secretary, Ledyard Coggswell. The association will meet at Niagara Falls next year. INDIANA FREE-COINAGE MEN.

INDIANAPOLIS (Ind.,) July 11.-Th mmittee that was appointed by the emocrats at the free-silver convention Democrats at the free-silver convention will meet here to plan a campaign for independent coinage. Senator Turple has agreed to meet the committee, and the members will be guided largely by his advice. The Senator will recommend that a State meeting for the organization of a Democratic independent coinage league be called.

Members of the committee say that if a State league is formed an effort will be made to extend the organization into every county in the State. It is believed that, by following this plan, the free-coinage wing of the party will be able to control the district conventions which will meet next spring to elect delegates to the national nominating convention.

The committee will decide whether or not a speaker shall be put in the field to answer ex-Congressman Bynum's gold-standard speeches. It has been suggested that Senator Turple undertake this task, but he does not wish to do so.

His first wife, Clare Belle, gained him unenviable notoriety as uckold by giving champagne suppers to Seneca Swalm, once a gilded youth fully sleeping under the same roof. Now his second wife, whom he married two years ago, has skipped out with $100,-000 which Dick had given her for his own legal defense. Dick says that she is merely visiting friends, but those say that she is on her way to her old home in Germany with her jacent territory in South Dakota, and only the most vigorous measures on the part of the authorities will remedy many of the evils existing.

For years the country between Lyman county, directly west of here, and Holt and Keyapaha counties in Nebraska, has been infested by what appears to be an organized gang of cattle and horse-thieves. Enough has been learned to make it a certainty that this band has convenient rendezvous at various points through the fifty or sixty miles of territory where it operates. Cattle and horses that stray toward White River disappear with great regularity, as also do cattle and horses belonging to farmers and stockmen residing throughout that portion of South Dakota. This leads to the conclusion belonging to farmers and stockmen residing throughout that portion of South Dakota. This leads to the conclusion that the thieves take the stock stolen from South Dakota farmers and ranchmen and dispose of them to the setelers in Nebraska.

Certain residents of the infested region who have no visible means of support are suspected of being in league with the thieves, but no positive evidence has as yet been secured against them. Gangs of horse and cattlethieves have been practically wiped out of existence on several occasions in Northern Nebraska and Southern South Dakota during the last twenty years by the enraged settlers, and there are indications that the same effective measures will be resorted to again. asures will be resorted to again.

ppointment to the Commerce Committee Sought by Senators. (REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

WASHINGTON, July 11.-There bids WASHINGTON, July 11.—There bids fair to be quite a contest among the Republican members of the Senate from the Pacific Coast States for the position on the Committee on Commerce, which has heretofore heen filled by Senator Dolph of Oregon. It is understood that Senators Perkins of Callifornia, McBride of Oregon and Squire of Washington would each like to secure the appointment, while Senator Wilson of Washington would accept the position if tendered him, and Senator Mitchell of Oregon might take it under certain conditions.

The place is considered one of special importance, as the committee deals with all questions of commerce which come before the Senate, and acts in an advisory capacity to the Appropriations Committee Commi

There are naturally many places along the Pacific Coast from Puget Sound to the Mexican border, which seek preference at the hands of which seek preference at the hands of Congress, and the rivalry between them is quite sharp. The possibility of the extension of the trade of the United States with oriental countries also enhances the importance of the hances the importance of the ment at this time in the eyes

Being the oldest Senator of the five named, and coming from the State that Senator Dolph repres Mr. Mitchell could probably secu position if disposed to accept it at the sacrifice of some other important sacrifice of some other important com-mittee assignment. He occupies a pe-culiarly commanding position on the Senate committees, standing, as he does at the head of the Re-publican representation on the com-mittees on Claims, Postoffices and Privileges and Elections. In case of the organization of the Senate by the Republicans he will naturally be assigned to the chairmanship of his choice of those committees, and will hold his position next to the chairman choice of those committees, and will hold his position next to the chairman on the other two, unless he voluntarily on the other two, unless he voluntarily resigns to accept a position on some other committee, like Commerce, of which he is not now a member. He will probably not make this transfer. It is understood among his colleagues that he would prefer to allow his own as-understood among his colleagues that he would prefer to allow his own assignments to remain as they are if he could secure the appointment of his colleague, Mr. McBride, to the Commerce vacancy. He realizes, however, that it will be difficult to secure for a new member an assignment of the importance of this, and one which is sought by the older Senators.

Senator Perkins will be met with the objection that Senator White of his own State is a member of the same committee. Mr. Wilson of Washington is not a candidate in the ordinary sense, but some of his friends are urging his fitness for the place. The same objections which apply in Mr. McBride's place would hold in Mr. Wilson's. The latter would enjoy a slight advantage from the circumstance of having served in the House before his election to the Senate.

At present, therefore, the chances seem most favorable to Senator Squire's candidacy. The selection would depend on the turn affairs may take at the beginning of the next session, and it is impossible to foretell to whom the assignment will go. There is very little or no doubt, however, that some one of the Pacific Coast Senators will be appointed to the place.

The prisoner proved to be Ernest Lynwood, known in police circles as the "scar-faced kid." It was at first presumed that the "kid" was simply drunk, but on being put into a cell he acted so queerly that the jailor became convinced that he was insane. Lynwood imagined that somebody was sifting powder down on him from the roof of the cell, and kept cramming a handkerchief into his mouth to prevent the powder from smothering him. His dementia became so marked that it was finally decided to send him to the County Jail, where he was placed in the padded cell. The general subject of the papers for the morning session was: "The Duty the morning session was: "The Duty and Opportunity of Schools in Promot-ing Patriotism and oGod Citizenship." George H. Martin, supervisor of schools of Boston, addressed the asso-ciation on "New Standards of Patriotic Citizenship." His speech was as fol-lows.

Citizenship." His speech was as follows:

Five hundred years of history have become crystallized in our American notion of patriotism. Feudalism, villanage, serfdom, chattel slavery and constitutional absolutism have, one ater another, gone down in fight. Blazing across the sky has been the legend, "The Rights of Man." For a hundred years, to American children Bunker Hill has been preserved as a type of patriotism in the concrete. A patriot is a man who loves his country and is ready to fight for it. All our patriotic literature has the same ring, and so have the songs we sing. As a perpetual stimulus to this emotion, we have put the flag over all our schoolhouses, and have taught our children to salute it.

What does it all mean; and what is to be the outcome of it all? The practical question is: Shall this sentiment of patriotism be allowed to expend its elf in mere effervescence, or shall its energy be transmuted into careful work? Shall men and women be ambitious to be themselves fathers and mothers rather than sons and daughters of revolution. In a ward, shall our people be willing to live for their country while they are waiting to die for it?

country while they are waiting to die for it?

To bring about this change will necessitate new standards of patriotism. We must move from the fifteenth century to the twentieth. Instead of class distinctions embodied in the laws and customs we must see legal, social equality. And we must see that a great independent nation will not have to fight over the old battles, but meet new enemies and call for new weapons. When we have come to know what these new enemies are, we shall realize that the work of patriotism is no longer a struggle with principalities and powers, but against spiritual wickedness in high places. Our work, therefore, in the education of the young for citizenship will be three-sided. We shall need fire to get beneath the manifestations of patriotic emotions in the past to the essential and underlying principles. Next, we shall need to show what are the peculiar perils of our country today.

And, third, we must teach how these day.

And, third, we must teach how these enemies are to be met and conquered: in other words, how the old spirit must manifest itself under the new conditions. It will be our business to teach that our foes are of our own household; that idleness, intemperance, luxury and extravagance may destroy a people; that a venal ballot and a cor-

might an ernment.
Wicked men on the bench may light their pipes with Magna Charta and the bill of rights and state and national constitutions, and combinations of men constitutions, and combinations of men was believed for selfish constitutions, and combinations of mén may make or unmake laws for selfish purposes, and under the guise of laws for the people the people may be oppressed. The twentieth century patriot must be, first of all, of sound manhood. We must limit the two extremes in which two classes of our citizens develop—the overfed and the hungry and ragged idlers, both allke preying on the public.

raged idlers, both alike preying on the public.

Next the new patriotism will recognize in a substantial way the mutual obligations which grow out of the interpendence of men in society. Fair-dealing must be its supreme characteristic and it must be shot through with the spirit of the golden rule. The whole industrial system today is practically in the hands of irresponsible agents. The new patriotism will penetrate to the core of this system and bring back to it the sense of personal responsibility which it has lost.

By this standard will the patriotism of men be measured. Are they willing, for the public good, for the country's sake, to sacrifice private interests of time and money and thought; to sink partisan prejudices, and to unite with all other men similiarly inclined is an alliance offensive and defensive for good government, business government? Will they vote? Will they go to caususes? Will they take municipal offices? Will they serve on juries? Will they fight the saloon and the gambling interest on their own ground? Will they fight the saloon and the gambling interest on their own ground? Will they fight the spoilsmen in their own party? Will they demand and fight for, first, last and all the time, clean men and clean measures?

Joseph Baldwin of Austin, Tex, treated the subject, "Patriotism of the Southland." He said that the people of the South rejoiced today that the "Lost Cause" was lost. The great question in the South was the lifting up of the colored race to citizenship, and it was being done. He spoke in detense of the whites in restricting the political rights of blacks.

A. P. Marble, Superintendent of Schools of Nebraska, read a paper on "The Ethical Element in Patriotism."

Etaid down certain propositions in the following terms:

"Titt—The word patriotism is defined from a root that signifies to pro-brace great nations with a common interest.

"Fifth—With the spread of civilization this idea of patriotism has taken on a broader meaning. From families of individuals or races, we now consider families or nations; and what first embraced only the people of one family, now embraces humanity. The original idea was essentially selfish in a narrow sense. Gradually, the idea has broadened, but it has been and still is essentially selfish. The extended notion of patriotism has gradually become more altruistic, and its future development will still further develop the altruistic idea.

"Already there is a community of educated, enlighteped, broad-minded men, whose patriotism embraces the whole world of man, while holding a warmer place in their hearts for the country where they live. It is the duty of schools to cultivate this broad, all-comprehending patriotism."

The papers were discussed by W. H. Bartholomew of Louisville, C. B. Gilbert of St. Paul, Minn., and J. R. Preston, State Superintendent of Mississippi. All agreed that the battlefield was not the place for a display of the truest patriotism, and that one of the highest moral duties of the teachers was that of inculcating love of home and native land. Schoolhouse patriotism was uniting all sections of the nation. The morning session closed with the singing of "America" by the audience.

In the afternoon the departments held sessions at the different churches and sessions at the different churches and school-buildings. Distinguished educators read papers, among whom was Earl Barnes of the Stanford University on "Child Study."

Prof. W. J. Whiteman of Denver, with a class of fifty little children, entertained the various departments with an exhibition of chorus work.

The Educational Press Association was organized here today with the following officers: A. E. Winship of the New England Journal of Education, president; William G. Smith, School Education, secretary; George P. Brown, Public School Journal, treasurer. The next regular meeting will be held in February at Jacksonville, Fla. W. L. Bryan, University of Indiana, Bloomington, read a paper on "Science and Education." He said it was hard to get science or any other good thing wholly into the schols, but there was hope so long as such men as the one who preceded him was working in the cause.

The Colorado Educational Association gave a reception to the visiting teachers at the Brown Palace Hotel after the convention adjourned.

Prof. Joseph le Conte of the University of California read a paper on "The Effect of the Theory of Evolution on Education."

Education."

Evolution, he said, has been recognized vaguely from the earliest times, but only recently applied to life. It has revolutionized our whole view of nature and man, and modified philosophy and the theory and methods of education. It has changed the naturalist of the past, who merely collected the wonders of nature, to the biologist who analyzes.

education. It has changed the naturalist of the past, who merely collected the wonders of nature, to the biologist who analyzes.

Search is studied by three methods: By symbols or the mathematical method; by experiment and by comparison, or the evolution method. The latter is the most widely efficient. By tracing the gradations of life down from the highest vertebrates to the invertebrates; from the fully-developed man back to the originating germoell; from the fauna of today back to the earlier periods, and by comparing the results we gain all our knowledge of biology. This method may be applied to all phenomena of human life. Psychology can no longer be studied as a science disconnected with other knowledges.

There is now no doubt that man, both in body and spirit, came by process of evolution from some lower form of animal. Evolution teaches that nothing originates all at once by flat, but all things come by growth. New forms come, not by destruction and re-creation, but by the modification of the old. The ancient idea was that the individual should always be sacrificed to the good of society as the greater and more important organism; the new idea is that the individual immortal soul is more important than all the temporal social institutions. Evolution recognizes the importance of the individual but sees in society the means of raising it to the importance of the individual, but sees in society the means of raising it to the ideal humanity and that only by subordinating individual interests can this be achieved. Evolution refutes the theory that man has fallen from a state of perfection, which can only be regained through miraculous agency, but places the golden age in the future. The ascetic believes man is a dual

The ascetic believes man is a dual nature, a pure spirit which must for its own elevation trample upon the impure body. Hedonistic philosophy makes man but a kind of animal, whose pleasures are purely physical. Evolution combines the two theories, and, while not suppressing the physical, subordinates it to the spiritual; the one giving strength and vigor and the other refinement to the combination. The lower animal has only the present; man has, through memory and imagination, the past and future. The animal has only self; man through sympathy and love has many selves. Through evolution selfhood in man is revealed and at once lost again in love. lost again in love.

A Federation of English-speaking People.

(Contemporary Review:) If it is pos sible to solidify the English-speaking people on some such lines as you in-dicate, the final question is, what would be the gain to them and to mankind?

To all intents and purposes war would by degrees die out from the face of the earth—it would become impossi-ble. The armed camp, which burdens mpedes progress, would disappear. If the Old World, enslaves the nations and impedes progress, would disappear. If you had the Anglo-Saxon race acting on a common ground, they could determine the balance of power for a fully-peopled earth. Such a moral force would be irresistible, and argument would take the place of war in the settlement of international disputes. Why, if there was a race great enough by a single word to prevent it, should any two nations throw the world into disorder by fighting with each other? If the arbitrament of reason takes the place of the arbitrament of war, it, will at once be seen what a new and noble world is unveiled.

Substantially the fighting machinery of the Old World—the arsenals and the battalions—have been kept out of the New. But mutterings sometimes threaten, which excite the young nations of the New World to think they must prepare means for their own defense against some of the nations of the Old. Therefore, unless Anglo-Saxon union is realized, the doubt arises whether war can long be kept out of the New World; so, you see, unity makes for the prevention of war in the Old, and obviates any probable cause of war in the New. An element not fully dreamed of, which is being introduced, will immensely strengthen the federation idea. The influence of woman, now coming to be a real factor in the world, will tend, probably as much as any other cause, to make nations unwilling to plunge into scenes of bloodshed and uneless destruction of life and property. That will be a blessed assistance toward the peace of the world in this time of excitement, and so a bulwark for federation, which is the creator of peace.

BOSTON, July 11.-All Boston is surounded with the enthusiasm of the young Christians now within her gates.
The splendid welcome that today was Even the immensity of the enthusiasm that prevailed today at the mammoth meetings in Mechanics' Hall and the two great tents, Williston and Endeavor, was exceeded tonight by was of importance and interest. At the Mechanics' building Rev. F. H. Clark, D.D., of Boston, founder and Clark, D.D., of Boston, founder and president of the society, delivered his annual address. The address was also read in tent Williston by Rev. H. T. McEwan, Ph.D., of New York, and in tent Endeavor by Prof. James Lewis Howe of Lexington, Ky. Thus it was heard by 29,000 people, for in each of the tents the Endeavorers were 10,000 strong, and in the Mechanics' building were gathered 9000 more. The story it conveyed was one of success that exceeded hope, and almost audacious in its extent, and it evoked the utmost enthusiasm, which was expressed in such Hosannas as modern Athens Las never heard before.

The meeting in tent Williston tonight was, perhaps, the greatest of the three.

the noted Chicago temperance lecturer, who spoke in tent Endeavor on "The Christian Endeavor vs. the Saloon," were also great attractions. The choruses, too, at all three meetings surpassed all that has yet been attempted in music since the meeting began. Eight hundred singers were included in that at Mechanics' Hall, and each of the tents had a quota of not less than six hundred.

General Secretary John Willis Barr of Boston presided at Mechanics' Hall.

General Treasurer William Shaw of Boston led the tent meeting in Tent Williston, and Trustee Rev. J. Z. Tyler, D. D., of Cleveland directed affairs in Tent Endeavor.

The denominational meetings were attended by thousands of delegates belonging to the twenty-seven denominations represented at the convention. More than one hundred clergymen and laymen spoke at these meetings on almost as many subjects. The principal rallies were the Baptists at Tent Endeavor, Congregational at Tent Williston, Presbyterians at Mechanics' Hall, Disciples of Christ at South End Tabernacle, Cumberland Presbyterians at Union Congregational Church, Methodist Episcopal at People's Temple, Reform Church of the United States at First Presbyterian Church, and United Brethren at Park-street Church.

These meetings were led, respectively, by Rev. H. V. Vedder of Chester, Pa.; W. H. Strong of Detroit, Mich.; Rev. G. B. Stewart, D. D., Harrisburg, Pa.; Rev. A. B. Philipott, D. Wiggins of Ontario. Dr. Smith's hymn, "Welcome," was read in concert and then sung with a will. Rev. Albert H. Plumb, D.D., welcomed the delegates in behalf of the Boston pastors.

Gov. Greenhalge then mounted the stage and was greeted with the Chautauqua salute, thousands of handkerchiefs being waved in all parts of the hall. Hon. S. B. Capen, chairman of the committee, made an address of welcome in behalf of the committee, President Clark introduced Gov. Greenhalge, who eloquently welcomed the delegates. At the close of the Gov.

Rev. E. R. Dille, D.D., of San Francisco, whom Dr. Clark called a "loyal Methodist," then made a response in behalf of the board of trustees of the United Society of Christian Endeavor. After the ladies in the audience had sung "Throw Out the Liteline." Secretary John Willis Barr read the annual report.

THE OVERFLOW MEETING. THE OVERFLOW MEETING.
BOSTON, July 11.—About sixty-five hundred enthusiastic Endeavorers crowded the Endeavor tent today. Crimson and white streamers waved all over the tent, the bunting being draped from the great center-pole. The flags and colors of all nations were interspersed with streamers. High above all, the flags of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and the Stars and Stripes floated.

Great Britain and the Stars and Stripes floated.

Upon the platform where speakers and prominent members of the so-clety were seated, was the grand chorus. The chorus and delegates joined in singing until Rev. J. C. Breckley, D.D., of New York opened the meeting according to the programme by announcing the first hymn, "Onward, Christian Soldiers." Rev. W. H. Albright of Boston called for testimony by delegates. For fifteen minutes from all parts of the house came words of praise to the Almighty and good tidings to the Endeavor Society. Rev. Breckley was forced to announce the next number before all who desired had testified.

He called attention to the banner which hung over his head inscribed, "For Christ and the Church—Welcome," and exhorted his hearers, as they raised their voices, to bear in mind that they should never forget to work for Christ and the church. The hymn "Welcome," written for the occasion by Dr. S. F. Smith, author of "America," was sung. A. J. Crockett, president of the Boston local union, welcomed the delegates.

Rev. J. R. Cheseman of Cleveland, O., read the annual report of the secretary, John Willis Barr of Boston, which placed the total membership at 2,473,740. The welcome of the city pastors was extended by Rev. M. D. Kneeland, D.D. In behalf of the State, Lieut. Gov. Roger Walcott welcomed the delegates. J. H. Barrows, D.D., of Chicago responded to the welcome of Massachusetts and Boston.

Secretary Baer's report was of considerable length and teemed with good reports from the different societies throughout this and other countries. The increase in membership and of the number of societies was quite as gratifying as that reported last year and showed an unquestionable enthusiasm prevalent among Christian Endeavorers everywhere. The total membership of the society is placed at 2,473,740 and there are 41,229 societies. During the year there have been formed 7750 new societies, the largest increase for any one year since the Christian Endeavor movement was inaugurated, fourteen years ago.

NOON-DAY RALLIES.

After the big convention meeting of the forenoon hundreds of the delegates held noonday rallies throughout the city. In the churches and halls, in vacant lots, on street corners and in the big markets and factories and in missions and large retail stores they gath ered and offered prayer for the benefit of the thousands of toilers who heard eight denominational rallies were held in the different churches of the city and its suburbs. These rallies were attended by the delegates according to their denominational connections.

evening opened in Mechanics' Hall 9000 persons crowded the auditorium, and at 7:15 o'clock an overflow meeting, in which over 2000 participated, was being held in front of the building.

President Clark received a grand ovation when he advanced to the speaker's desk to read his annual report. The cheering continued when Secretary Baer announced that at the meeting of the trustees this afternoon San Francisco had been decided upon as the meeting place for the convention in 1897.

"Judged by all standards it is no immodest statement that the Endeavor movement is a success. An organization which in fourteen years has grown from one society to forty thousand, from fifty-six members to nearly 2,500,000; an organization that has belted the globe, that finds itself as much at home in old England as in New England, under the Southern Cross and under the Northern Star and the dragon flag of China as under the Stars and Stripes of America, can claim surely to be no provincial and temporary expedient, but a world-wide, providential movement. Especially is this true when it is remembered that this success has been achieved without any ecclesiastic patronage. That this success has been achieved without any ecclesiastic patronage. That this success is no evanescent, temporary affair is shown by the fact that this year has been the year of greatest and most substantial growth, as well as of highest spiritual attainment, of any of the fourteen.

"Our secretary's report told us of nearly eight thousand societies added to the ranks with 50,000 young soldiers of the Lord marching on to victory. This convention will tell you of the battles fought and won for Christian citizenship; of the war waged against the saloon and the brothal, the Sunday ballgame and the Sunday theaters; for good government and righteusness in municipal affairs. The demands upon all Christian Endeavorers through the very triumphs of the year are:

"First—Humble, unselfish devotion to the cause represented by the Y.P.S. C.E., which is the cause of Christ."

Mr. Clarke here warned the members against ecclesiastical politics and bosses, and continued:

When two years ago at Montreal the suggestion was made to you, Endeavorers, that as in-dividuals you had unfulfilled duties along the lines of Christian citizenship and missionary enlargement, who and missionary enlargement, who would have believed that your re-sponse would have been so prompt and generous?"

The speaker gave all the credit of "Fifth, our success in the past has been the success of a united host. It could never have been won as a sect, as a segment of the hosts of God's people. So far as we have been allowed by our superiors, we represent the undivided evangelical young people of America. Thank God that in svery denomination but one, the world around, during the last twelve months, this fellowship has been growing broader and more complete. "E Pluribus Unum' is our motto around the world as truly as it is the motto of the United States of America. Denominational loyalty and love are only marked when we are bound together in this alliance, offensive and defensive, against the hosts of evil.

"I have thought you might grow tired of our old annual motto, and I have tried to find another one as appropriate, but I cannot do it. The successes of the past year only emphasize it, for they are all of Christ and Christian fraternity; so I must give to you for the coming year, the motto which tells of the Captain and of one fellowship; the motto which points backward to past successes, the motto which shows the only regard to future victories; the motto which tells allke of our leader-ship and our brotherhood. Here it is. Take it, O Christian Endeavorers; take it, and live by it for another twelve-month.

WASHINGTON, July 11.—Advices to the surgeon-general of the Marine Hospital Service indicate quite an alarming increase in yellow fever in Cuba and other West Indian islands. The week ending June 29 recorded twenty-eight deaths in Santiago, while there is an average of five deaths daily at Puerto Principe, a city of about 45,000. There are about 150 cases in the military hospital at San Juan de Puerto Principe, and the disorder is rapidly increasing. The report from Santiago says:
"The death rate is increasing at an alarming rate. At Puerto Principe, and the disorder is rapidly increasing. This being near the center of the Island of Cuba would indicate that the epidemic is working west toward Havana. The news from San Juan comes as a surprise, as nothing had been previously heard from there since April 24, when only one death was reported."

The United States Consul there writes under date of July 1: "While the military barracks are never quite free from disease, the present condition of affairs bids fair to produce a serious epidemic during July, August, September and October. Three hundred or more cases in the military hospital, and the disease seems to be increasing, while the mortality is alarming, reaching as high as 80 or 90 per cent."

KILLED AND WOUNDED. HAVANA, July 11.—(By South American Cable.) The insurgents now acknowledge that they left eleven killed and wounded in the skirmish near Palarita. The insurgents under the command of Garson have burned the town hall near Minas del Iquiri, province of Santiago de Cuba, and killed the Mayor of the town, Joaquin Vago, and several citizens who took part in the defense.

In the recent action between Gen. Navarro's troops with the Garson insurgents, in addition to Garson being killed, the insurgents lost twenty-five killed and wounded.

EUSTIS WAS TRAPPED.

FARIS, July 11.—Figaro this morning publishes a statement from James P. Eustis, United States Ambasaador to France, in which he says: "The fact is now recalled to my memory that Secretary Vignaud introduced M. Routier to me on May 13 not as a journalist, but as a writer. According to my custom, I had a conversation with him, but I certainly did not authorize Routier to publish it. He did not tell me he had such an intention, and, if he had I should have forbidden him, as would have been my duty, to divulge anything of our conversation. I did not use the language which Routier attributes to me, and I do not understand why Routier thought he had a right to invite me to discuss delicate questions of international policies."

L'Estafette, discussing the affair, remarks: "It would not require many incidents, especially in view of the effect which it produced in Spain, to lead to serious complications with the United States. The fault rests entirely

WASHINGTON, July 11.—The Spanish government again cabled Minister Dupuy de Lome this morning, presumably concerning the interview of Amhassador Eustis. Belief is entertained that the Spanish Foreign Office is entirely satisfied with the prompt assurance given by the United States minister at Madrid yesterday concerning the inaccuracy of the Eustis interview as reported. Minister Taylor took occasion to assure the Spanish authorities of the friendly attitude of the United States. CORRESPONDENT WOODWARD'S

CORRESPONDENT WOODWARD'S STORY.

NEW YORK, July 11.—Frank Woodward, the Cuban war correspondent, arrived today on the steamer Ardandhu from Gibara, apparently none the worse for his trying experiences in Cuba. Woodward, after many weeks of hardships, managed to reach Gibara. He proceeded immediately to the United States consular agency, where he met Jose H. Beola, United States consular agent and an officer of the Spanish army. Beola, Woodward asserts, treated him in a most discourte-ous manner, advising him to give himself up to the Spanish authorities, which would mean imprisonment for a long period. He was compelled to seek the protection of the British flag aboard the tramp steamer Ardandhu, and, through the kindness of Capt. Wealker, managed to reach home alive. Beola, Woodward says, refused to recognize him as an American citizen, and declined to communicate with Santiago de Cuba, where Woodward stated his papers had been filed with Consul Hyatt, and declared that all American reporters were paid by the Cubans to write ites. Woodward tells the following story of the death of Gen. Marti: "While Marti with about two hundred Cubans were reconnoftering in the vicinity of Gibara, he fell in with 2000 Spanish troops drawn up on the banks of a small river. The insurgent sootis were about to retreat when Marti ordered a charge. The Spaniards, taken by surprise, formed a square, Gen. Marti, mounted on a large grey stallion, which he spurred furiously into a gallop, charged madly upon the Spaniards' square, breaking down their ranks. The horse plunged violently, goaded and pierced by the Spaniards' bayonets. Marti was dragged from he horse, bayonetted and fairly riddled with bullets."

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)
ATLANTIC CITY (N. J.,) July 11.—
No deaths have yet resulted from the disaster last night at the Baltic-avenue details of the occurrence have not been exaggerated. A conservative estimate places the number of wounded at close to two hundred. Of these only one is in immediate danger, Frederick Clap-roth of Jennings's Band, Camden, N. J. The report that both Claproth and Miss Jennie Rockwell, of Philadelphia were dead is untrue. Miss Rockwell was only slightly injured.

The accident was caused by the collapse of the second floor of the building directly over a refreshment room. Just previous to the disaster Jennings's Bandhad begun to play for the Elks and the majority of the people were thus attracted to the upper floor. But for this there would have been great loss of life.

A party of New York delegates lingered below, but they heard the crackle of timbers and escaped to the board walk outside, not a second 100 soon. The great weight of the crowd was the primary cause of the accident, but there is talk of fixing the responsi-bility as it has been generally known that the structure was old and dilapibility as it has been generally known that the structure was old and dilapidated.

The casino building fronts the ocean from the board walk at the head of Ocean sevenue. It is a frame, two-sto-ried structure, built about three years ago by the Casino Amusement Conpany. It has been unoccupied for the past two years. When the pillars supporting the upper floor gave way the floor collapsed into a funnel-shaped gab, forming a "V" open at the apex, to the lower floor, which fortunately stood the shock. Those sitting in the middle of the room were at the bottom of the heap of humanity which filled the space. Cries of women and shouts of the men added to the confusion. As soon as possible willing hands assisted in the work of rescue and the injured were conveyed to hospitals, residences and hotels.

Every house was thrown open for the reception of the injured, and every available conveyance was pressed into service to carry them to their hotels. Meanwhile the physicians were on the scene, and were doing everything in their power to aid the unfortunates who had been caught in the crash. The excitement among the crowd was even greater than that in the immediate neighborhood of the wrecked building. The people injured were those who were so unfortunate as to fall underneath the mass. Among those injured, these

CHARLES FOLWELL of Camden,

GEORGE J. PECHIN of Camden, leg mashed.

At the Hotel Majestic lies James Armstrong, Exalted Ruler of the new lodge, with internal injuries. His tenyear-old daughter sustained some injuries about the limbs. Mrs. Japha and her niece, Miss Friedenthal. of New York are also at the Majestic, suffering from internal injuries. Those at the Albemarle are: Miss R. A. Livesley of East Liverpool, O., leg mashed, and M. E. Wells of Liverpool, O., spine injured. Others injured are:

MISS DRENING of Detroit, collarbone broken and limbs sprained.

MRS. DOBES of Illinois, broken nose.

BRYAN W. ORR, editor Social Session, Chicago, injured about the head.
The scene of the casualty is being visited by thousands today, who declare it remarkable that at least one-half of those in the structure at the time were not killed outright. The injured, who are scattered all over the island in cottages, hotels and hospitals, are doing well as far as heard from.
It is understood that the authorities will institute an immediate investigation with a view not only to ascertaining the cause of the mishap, but also to provide against the possibility of a recurrence of such a catastrophe.
The afternoon session was devoted to the consideration of routine business, including a humber of unimportant amendments to the constitution. The plage of the next meeting was left to the grand trustees, who will make a selection and report to the subordinate lodges before January 1, next.
These officers were elected: Grand exteemed loyal knight, B. M. Allen of Birmingham, Ala; grand esteemed lecturing knight, W. B. MoDermott of Columbus; grand treasurer, P. H. Williams of Brooklyn; grand secretary, G. T. Reynolds of Saginaw, Mich; board of grand trustees, W. C. Vanderslip of Boston, Joseph B. Loube of Richmond, Va; Edwin B. Hay of Weshington, D. C.; grand tyler, George W. June of Indianapolis. The convention then adjourned.

Roughly described, these lands con-sist of the odd-numbered sections south of Mojave, west of the desert of that name, north of the San Gabriel range of mountains, and east of the Elizabeth Lake district, and comprise a terri-tory seventy-five miles long by forty wide. The most important part of this region is embraced in what is known as egion is embraced in what is known a branch line, running from Mojave to Los Angeles, between the towns of Ros-amond and Alpine. The land has an elevation of about fourteen hundred feet, and will, therefore, not produce oranges, but, with water, alfalfa, grain, vegetables and deciduous fruits flour-ish.

The tuberculin test was made by the veterinarian, and showed that the animal was diseased. Her appearance and general good looks were against the test, but on opening the body it was found that the lungs were rotten, and a very large tumor was discovered which, when opened, was found filled with pus. Tubercles were found faroughout the viscera. The kidneys and heart were not affected, but the liver showed the disease. The disease was so far advanced that the health officer directed that the body be dedestroyed. The physicians present acknowledged that the tuberculin test was true.

He rooms in the house of Mrs. Sadie Stone at No. 7 Crook street. Mrs. Stone owned a fox terrier, which had been trained to catch tergier, which had been trained to catch money in its mouth, and other fancy tricks. On Monday night Mrs. Stone was preparing to go out to pay her month's rent, and she laid the money on a table while she put on her bonnet. Among the coins was a $10 gold-piece. The fox-terrier jumped upon the table, and, to her dismay, she saw it pick up the $10 gold-piece from the table and raimly swallow it. She was indignant at the disappearance of the $10 gold-piece, and bewalled her loss to her roomers. Hunter listened, among others, to her story, and that night he disappeared, and the fox-terrier disappeared at the same time.

He has talked to friends for several weeks that he would be better dead than alive, and efforts have been made to dissuade him from his lications, but the disgrace of probable arrest today, added to other troubles was more than he could bear, and, after the meeting of the City Council last evening, he went to the Cabinet saloon, gave the proprietor a letter to be sent to his wife, drew a pistol from his pocket, saying that he would not live till morning. Friends tried to get him to go home and go to bed, but he walked out of the salooon to the edge of the sidewalk, and, placing the muzzle to his head, remarked: "Wonder if this thing will go off?" and, pulling the trigger, sent a ball crashing through his brain, falling dead in his tracks.

The one-mile, open, class B, was won by Bald of Buffalo, with F. J. Titus second. Mayo and Saunders paced them.

Gardiner was the lucky man in the break for the tandem, Bald running up on the outside. Titus held Gardiner's wheel with Allen. Church and McDonald trailing. At the first turn Islaid took the pole. After riding a lap Gardiner gave up, and at the end of the race lodged a protest against Bald for giving him the "elbow." Bald won by a yard from Titus and Allen. Church and McDonald fininshed a yard apart in 2:07 3-5.

THE BIG FIGHT.

The Arena to be the Largest in This Country.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)
DALLAS (Tex.,) July 11.—A diagram of the Fitzsimmons-Corbett building displayed at Dan Stuart's office shows

Unreserved seats, 30,868; reserved seats, 17,688; seats in balcony, 2466; seats for the press, 652; total, 52,815. There never was such a theater built in the United States. The Democratic wigwam at Chicago held 50,000, and the Music Hall at the World's Fair no more. The prize ring, in the center will be forty feet square, four feet from the ground. Enormous as the capacity is, it is expected that every seat will be taken. Secretary Wheeler was busy this morning marking off the boxes and seats taken by persons at a distance. THE PREACHERS AND THE LAW.

AUSTIN, (Tex.,) July 11.—A delega-AUSTIN, (Tex.,) July 11.—A delega-tion of the ministers of Austin have called upon the Governor and earnestly called upon the Governor and earnestly appealed to him to prevent the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight at Dallas, saying that it was a burning shame. The Governor gave them a respectful hearing and assured them that if the provisions of the law were adequate the officers would see to it that the fight did not come off. The ministers say that they want the law made adequate so as to prevent the fight.

THE SALE OF SEATS.

DALLAS (Text July 11—The sale of seats for the big fight began last night. J. T. Trezevant, President of the State Fair Association, was the first man served. He took five seats. The sales by wire and personal application has reached $18,000.

Kaiser and Iron Chancellor. (London Daily News:) M. Lavisse, who is fond of making tours in places who is fond of making tours in places associated with Frederick the Great, has just returned to Paris from Berlin. He was able, our Paris correspondent says, to obtain when in Germany an instantaneous photograph of the German Emperor's visit to Prince Bismarck on the Prince's birthday. The photographer lay in wait in the gatehouse. The Emperor has just alighted from the saddle. A servant holds his horse. Another servant on the far side holds Prince Bismarck's military mante. Between them are the Emperor and the Prince, the latter showing his back and face in half profile and the Emperor full front. As the day is bright the shadow of the trees beneath which they stand are thrown on their figures. Both are in full dress uniforms—the Emperor as a White Cuiras-sier. Prince Bismarck seems a colossus. His hand is on the hilt of his sword, and he hardly bends before his imperial master. But the Emperor bends forward, as if hastening to offer his congratulations, and making an effort to conquer a sense of embarrassment. He looks like a lieutenant in the presence of a general. It appears that this instantaneous photograph has made the tour of Germany, and is thought very amusing at Berlin. M. Lavisse likes the Emperor; he thinks him original, clever, fond of the unexpected, and magnanimous. The photograph, M. Lavisse says, speaks volassociated with Frederick the Great pected, and magnanimous. The photo-graph, M. Lavisse says, speaks vol-umes about the actual relations of Wil-liam II. and Prince Bismarck.

Jawels for the Future Duchess

(Vigue:) The fancy of the hour in hair ornaments are aigrettes, clusters or high arches made to stand straight up over the center of the brow or quite at the back of the head. Of these Princess Helene is to receive quite an assortment. A truly-covetable one consists of two large sapphires set on the top of two raised lines of diamonds, and sur-rounded also with diamonds of the first rounded also with diamonds of the first water. They are set so as to move when the wearer walks, and the play of the diamonds is thus rendered more than ever effective. Yet another is in the shape of a conventionalized lyre of diamonds the tops tapering on wire, and this is worn rising up at the back of the head and emerging from a fist-circlet of diamond and emerging stars. Very odd is a broad collar of black and plnk pearls of splendid circlet, set alternately and clasped by five bars of alternately and clasped by five bars of diamonds. A flight of swallows in sap-phires, black pearls, and iamonds is also well worth mentioning. twenty-nine birds, some destined for the coiffure, others for the corsage, and the coiffure, others for the corsage, and a whole string of them to be scattered over the train—a pretty idea indeed. The Legitimist "fleur-de-lys" is naturally going to play an important part in the young bride's royal display of presents, and I saw yesterday a tiara of blue and pink diamond fleur-de-lys which will admirably set off the proud beauty of the happy girl for whom it is intended. I may add that one of our leading jewelers is planning out an absolutely unique toilet set of frosted gold and rock crystal, with diamond menoand rock crystal, with diamond menograms and crowns, to grace the dress-ing-room table of the future Duchess Cheerful Influence of Science.

(The Popular Science Monthly:) The best that we gain from the pursuit of reasearch is, I believe, our characteristic optimism. We are engaged in achieving results and results of the most permanent and enduring quality. A business man may achieve a fortune but time will dissipate it. A statesman business man may achieve a fortune; but time will dissipate it. A statesman may be the savior of a nation; but how long do nations live? Knowledge has no country, belongs to no class, but is the might of mankind, and it is mightler for what each of us has done. We have brought our stones, and they are built into the edifice and into its grandeur. My stone is a small one. It will certainly be forgotten that it is mine, nevertheless, it will remain in place.

How different is the pessimism toward which literary men are seen to tend! Harvard University lost James Russell Lowell in 1891 and Asa Gray in 1838. The letters of both of these eminent men have been published. Lowell's letters grow sad and discouraged, and he gives way more and more to the pessimistic spirit. Gray is optimistic steadily to the end. The difference was partly due to natural temperament, but chiefly, I think, to the influence of their respective professions. The subject material of the litertary man is familiar human nature and familiar human surroundings, and his task is to express the thoughts and dreams which these suggest. He must compete with the whole past, with all the genius that has been. There is nothing new under the sun, he exclaims. But to us it is a proverb contradicted by our daily experience.

BUSINESS.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

under the triumphant "bull" campaign of the last three months, entered on a new stage. It states that prices have risen to a pitch that surprises even the most sanguine, and the "bull" operators have made extraordinary profits. Among conservative operators there is a feeling that prices are now up to what the immediate facts of the situation warrant.

The advance proof contains a paragraph which is flattering to the United States. Speaking of the relative importance of London and New York as great money centers, it says: "London is no longer a leading factor. That market perceives that New York is now capable of taking care of itself and of the foreign markets at the same time. It sees that a great confidence has taken hold upon our people; that power commands the confidence of London; and Europe may therefore be expected to follow the drift of our home market rather than antagonize it so long as it tends to increase profits upon foreign holdings."

THE LATE BOND ISSUE. The peculiar action of the City Council in regard to the late issue of 4½ per cent. refunding bonds, concerning which The Times had something more to say yesterday, has called out a further and well-pronounced opinion from the Investor. Speaking on that matter, in its issue of today, it says: "In this connection we desire to say emphatically that the refunding bonds should not be soid at any price until their legality, which has been called into question, be first ascertained. The city of Los Angeles cannot afford to have any of its securities affoat upon which there can be any legal doubt, nor can the Council afford, as representatives of the people of this city, to dispose of these refunding bonds at a reduced price because the securities have just now a damaged reputation. Such methods may succeed in running a bargain store, but cannot be tolerated in the conduct of public affairs. This city has not a large bonded indebtness at the present time, and, in the course of its now rapid growth, there will undoubtedly be occasions for the emission of new bonds. The importance, therefore, of maintaining the credit of our city and the high reputation of its securities must never be lost sight of, and one of the greatest acts of folly that could be committed, would be the disposal of these refunding bonds before their legal status is determined."

PRICES FOR APRICOTS. The apri-

peculiar features, particularly in the prices paid for the fresh fruit.

Throughout the northern part of the State the crop was a very short one. Santa Clara county was the only excep-

Address NOVELTY, har N and which brought the higher prices mentioned above, were of a variety superior to that generally grown in this section. They were of the Moorpark, the Bleinheim and the Hemskirk varieties, any of which will, any year under any circumstances, command higher prices than the Royal, so largely grown in Southern California. The Royal has its virtues, not the least of which is that it can, under proper treatment, be always relied on for a crop. That much cannot be said of the other varieties, and especially is this true of the Moorpark. That splendid apricot seems to delight in toying with the hopes and affections of its grower, for in three years out of five the grower will find, to transpose the old saying, that his hopes have not ended in fruition. But when that fickle fruit does respond it never falls, no matter what the circumstances, to always be on top.

years out of five the grower will find, to transpose the old saying, that his hopes have not ended in fruition. But when that fickle fruit does respond—it never falls, no matter what the circumstances, to always be on top.

It is such varieties as the three here mentioned that have brought these higher prices in Santa Clara Valley this year, and only then, as further investigation goes to show, when sold to the canners. The canners establish a minimum circumference. Apricots that don't measure it they don't want. The result is that only the largest and choicest are picked from the trees for the canners. What remain are sold to the dryers, if not dried by the grower. These latter as a rule bring only 50 per cent. of cannery prices.

The second cause, the unnatural one, is that the apricot-growers of Southern Callfornia were buildozed in the early part of the season into the belief that there would be little or no demand this season for dried apricots. They were told that there were still in Southern Callfornia 400 carloads of unsold dried apricots of last year. That was true. They were also told that the Eastern markets were still piled up with Callfornia dried apricots. That was not true. Those who said that knew they were stating a falsehood, but they fell back on the 400 unsold carloads as a proof of what they said. They used it as a clincher. They said: "If what we say about the Eastern markets is not true why do you suppose we are leaving 400 carloads of them down here, if there was a market for them?" That seemed to be "straight goods," as they say in the trade. The growers could un the stand the bluff, laid down their apricots and buyers took them in at their own figures. Cases are known where contracts were made about that time at $12.50 a.'ton.

Then they were also told a lovely story about peaches. The buyers said: Peaches will sell; poor, dried, dear apricots awon't. Again the apricot men fell down and prayed the buyers to take their apricots for anything and if necessary they—the growers—would throw INCORPORATION. Articles of incorporation have been filed with the County Clerk by the Monarch Brick Company, a corporation formed for the purpose of manufacturing and dealing in all kinds of brick, producing and dealing in petroleum and its products, gas and water, and to do all kinds of business connected with the purposes for which the corporation is formed. The principal place of business is Los Angeles. There are five directors: Stillman C. White, Charles H. Whitman, Andrew B. Workman, John E. Vawter, Will D. Gould.

The capital stock amounts to $100,000, divided into 1000 shares of the par value of $100 each, all actually subscribed.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

Wholesale Quotations Bevised Daily LOS ANGELES, July 11, 1895. Cherries and currants are practically out of he market. Poultry is firm, and eggs and outter maintain their usual place. Yellow butter maintain their usual place. Yellow onions are lower.

(The following quotations are for average grades of the products mentioned. For an extra choice article a somewhat better price than the highest quoted can usually be obtained, while for a product of decidedly inferior quality the seller will probably have to accept less than the lowest published quota-

CHICAGO, July 11.—Wheat started weak and in the course of an hour it looked as if the bears had renewed their lease on the market. That lasted, however, but a short time. The early bearish construction was based upon yesterday's government report. The damage reports were lagain numerous and somewhat sensational.—Duluth dispatches reported an immense business done there yesterday and today in cash wheat to go to a miller in a good wheat-raising section. Under such stimulating news the market became quite buoyant. No attention was bestowed upon the foreign market quotations, nor anything else which on ordinary days influenced prices. SACRAMENTO, July 11.—A largely-attended meeting of fruit-growers was held last night. in Grangers' Hall, near Hangtown Crossing, for the purpose of discussing the rival auction-house war in New York city. Russ D. Stephens championed the cause of Sgobel & Day and the Eric salesroom, while George B. Katzenstein and H. Weinstock championed the West Shore salesroom, otherwise known as the Union salesroom, in which all fruit shipped by members of the California Fruit-growers' and Shippers' Association is sold. Senator Routier occupied the chair and A. J. Williamson acted as secretary. Speechers were also made by W. Humphreys, Peter Shields and others.

made by W. Humphreys, Peter Shields and others.

At 1 o'clock a vote was taken on resolutions supporting the open auction plan, free and open to all buyers, and pledging the American River growers to withdraw their support from the National Fruit Association, whose agents are Sgobel & Day of New York, and from the California Green and Dried Fruit Company, whose agents are P. Ruhlman & Co. of New York, and from all other shippers who do not sell their fruit in the auction-room selected by the California Fruit-growers' and Shippers' Association. The California Fruit-growers' and Shippers' Association will meet next Tuesday in this city to discuss the methods of fruit-marketing.

A FREE LABOR BUREAU.

On Monday next the State Bureau of Labor will inaugurate a free employment department at No. 215. Sansome street, San Francisco, The object will be to assist the large number of deserving persons now out of employment in this State to secure employ ment. It is estimated that within a short time after the opening of registration the number of enrollments will reach from 10,000 to 15,000.

Labor Commissioner Fitzgerald, in a circular just sent out, requests farmers, fruit-growers, packers, hop-growers, manufactureres, and, in fact, all persons who wish to employ help of any kind, to fill their requirements from the bureau, so far as is practicable. Blank forms have been prepared which will be sent to employers upon

While admitting that Mayne owes them money, they do not consider, up to the present writing, that they have been swindled by Mayne, and in justice to him feel that they should refute the insinuation. MAYNE'S OMAHA RECORD.

OMAHA (Neb.,) July 11.— (Special Dispatch.) Clifton E. Mayne came to Omaha late in the '70s from Avery, lowa, the home of his parents, For years he was a Western Union telegraph operator, A born speculator, he embarked in the real estate business at the outset of the bopin in 1885-86, and was phenomenally successful. He platted addition after addition, kept a large office force and carriages in waiting, and for two years coined money, at one time being reputed a millionaire. His weakness was fast horses, and he made some unfortunate investments, a very valuable horse dying shortly after he bought it. He became involved deeply, and tried to carry too heavy a load.

As the boom began to burst, Mayne had to have help, and the men he took in as his partners, and who furnished the capital, soon began to foreclose, and Mayne went to the wall. He sued Barker Bros. here for an alleged claim growing out in part of realty deals, but nothing came of it. Mayne went from here to Ogden, where he organized an improvement company and sought to interest capital, but the effort proved unsuccessful. From there he went to San Francisco, where he subsequently figured quite prominently in a case not unlike that in which he is now involved. In Omaha Mayne is not regarded as dishonest, but he was reckless and apparently willing to take foolhardy chances in his business ventures. MAYNE'S OMAHA RECORD. OMAHA (Neb.,) July 11. - (Special a great fortune from the sale of property south of the park, blocks of which he had bonded.

In February, last year, those of his acquaintances who were not familiar with his past adventures were surprised at his arrest for obtaining money under false pretenses. The warrant was based upon indictments returned by the grand jury two years previously, in which Mayne was charged with having defrauded Michael Irwin, a carpenter, out of $3000.

If win was employed by Mayne in June, 1891, when the latter was engaged in building the Ocean House, designed by him to be the greatest seaside, resort in the world. Near this house was a large tract of land, which Mayne called "Southside." It was located about two miles south of the Cliff House on the seashore, and, according to Mayne's idea, would prove to be an excellent residence site. Lots in Southside were placed on the market, and many sales were made. Mayne induced Irwin to put his earnings into Southside property, and after he had paid Mayne $2000 in cash he was pained to find that all proprietary interests in lots were held by a real estate owner maned James E. Damon, About that time Mayne disappeared from San Francisco and Irwin submitted the case to the grand jury with the result that an indictment was returned, charging Mayne with obtaining money under false pretenses.

In February of last year, two years after the indictment was found, Mayne returned and was arrested at the Palace Hotel. He manneged to get out of the scrape, and has since been operating in real estate ventures in the southern part of the State.

John Slankard, a deputy United States Marshal, meddled in the love at fairs of Lee Garrett, a carpenter, and the carpenter went gunning for him. Garrett was paying attention to a young lady and Slankard warned her father to beware of Garrett. Forthwith the father requested of Garrett that his attentions cease. Garrett rented a shotgun and started out on a hunt for the officer. He did not find him at the Sheriff's office, but learned where he lived, Slankard was expecting him and sent his wife to the door, he hidding behind it. Mrs. Slankard inquired what was wanted of her husband. "If you go to the store where I got this gun, they'll tell you what I want with him." said Garrett. The gun had been rented, so he had told them at the store, "to shoot a dog." Just then Slankard emerged and seized the gun and unbreeched and unloaded it. Garrett then made a dive for the officer's six-shooter, which was in his belt, but unsuccessfully. Slankard fairs of Lee Garrett, a carpenter, and belt, but unsuccessfully. ## TUCSON.

TUCSON, July 9.—(Regular Correspondence.) The Tucson baseball club is expected to soon arouse and return to all their pristine glory as cham-pions of Arizona. A letter has been re-ceived here from Flagstaff, growing out of the challenge made in The Times of the challenge made in The Times recently to play any team in Arizona for $500 a side. The Flagstaff correspondent reports that the three Atlantic and Pacific towns, Flagstaff, Williams and Winslow, want to combine teams and form a club to play Tucson for the sum mentioned. It is expected that the game, if accepted, will take place in Flagstaff about the middle of August. No action has yet been taken in the matter, but it is probable the challenge will be accepted. Another big series of games is in view, to be played at Albuquerque in Ootober, at the Territorial Fair thera. Practice will probably be resumed shortly. The Tucson battery, covered themselves with glory at Tombstone on the Fourth when they played with the Tombstone team against Bisbee.

PECULIAR SURGICAL OPERATION.

A young man named Poole, some time ago at Mammoth, shot away both of the bones of his forearm. The wound was dressed and one of the bones healed all right, while the other one sloughed away. Yesterday the physicians performed the operation of bone grafting, using a bone from a dog selected for the purpose, the operation being entirely successful. There are two ways of performing this operation; one being to graft in the bone of the animal while alive, of course chloroforming it, and the other method, as was necessary in the operation yesterday, to kill the animal and transfer the bone.

FLAGSTAFF.

FLAGSTAFF, July 9.—(Regular Correspondence.) Flagstaff has the baseball fever. The game of the l'ourth between the clubs of the neighboring between the clubs of the neighboring towns, Winslow and Williams, resulted in a score of 15 to 9 in favor of Winslow. The day before yesterday a game was started between Winslow and the Flagstaff team, but in the third inning a falling-out occurred, and the game "broke up in a row." Winslow forfeited the game and the purse of $100. Yesterday a game was played between the Albuquerque team, who have twice defeated the Williams and the Flagstaff. It was loosely played; score, 20 to 9 in favor of the visitors.

A large forest fire is raging among the pines to the north of Flagstaff. It is promised that Flagstaff will have a telephone system shortly. It will be instituted in a few days by Charles Hoff of Tucson, who is now at Prescott putting in a "Sunset" system. It will be welcome here.

Most people who have never been to Arizona carry a very wrongful impression of the country from a social standpoint. As a matter of fact, there are comparatively few crimes of a serious nature committed in the Territory. The report of the City Marshal of Flagstaff for the quarter just ended is a very hopeful showing for a town that a few years ago was a frontier settlement and as "wild and woolly" as they make 'em. Such crimes as murder, suicide and burglary are rare on the criminal calendar compared with the list of those political divisions which boast of a much higher civilization.

Some idea of the Santa Ana Valley as a farming country may be had when the fact becomes known that on one big ranch near Santa Ana, the San Joain, there are seven steam threshing outfits, steadily working in the barley fields of the ranch. With this large number of threshers and the small army of men that it takes to run them, it will require from three and one-half to four months to thresh the crop.

In addition to the usual lively times during the summer months, Santa Mon-ica this year is promised additional life over the proposed special school tax and other matters connected with its educational affairs. The Times' correspondent from that point writes that an opposition is probable to the tax upon the theory that one faction can in that way square itself with the school board for ignoring its wishes in the selection of teachers.

The 5000 horned toads recently pur-chased from San Diegans by the Ha-alian government will be used in the destruction of Japan bugs. It is the intention of the Commissioner of Agricul-ture to put the toads through an eduational course before liberating them on the islands. The people are invited to catch bugs at night and send them to the government nursery, where the in-sects will be introduced to the toads. After the reptiles have acquired a taste or and the art of catching these bugs in the nursery, they will be liberated for the purpose of ridding the countryside of these pests.

The Phoenix (Ariz.) correspondent of The Phoenix (Ariz.) correspondent of The Times reports one of the most pe-cullar operations in surgery known to the surgical world. There are instances of grafting the skin of one man onto the surgical world. There are instances of grafting the skin of one man onto the skin of another, without any particular kick from one or the other, but it has been reserved for an Arizona surgeon to take a bone from a dog and knit it to the bene of a man. The case, as cited, is that of a man, who, while out gunning, gunned off by accident the bones of his left forearm. One of the bones was only partially shattered and recovered. The other didn't. The flesh began to slough, and the bone disintegrate. An operation became necessary. The flesh was cut away and the shattered portions of the bone of the arm removed. To make a good arm of it again, the doctor suggested killing a dog, cutting out a piece of one of its bones, while still warm, and fitting it to the remnant of bone in the man's arm. The dog was, accordingly, killednot stated the breed of the dog—a piece sawed off and fitted onto the human arm, and, as the doctor reports, the piece fitted as though it belonged there. As the operation is reported to have taken place only a few days since, it cannot be definitely stated whether it will be an ultimate success of not, nor whether the man will imbite any of the characteristics of the dog through the surgical attachment of a portion of the latter to his otherwise human being.

It appears that Drury, who was an employee in the Columbia Iron Works, became engaged to Sanger's divorced wife. Sanger and his wife's folks are members of the Salvation Army and through the intervention of her parents, Sanger and his wife became reconciled with each other and resumed their marital relations. Drury did not enjoy being cheated out of his prospective bride in that way, and consequently bad blood arose between him and Sanger. He claims the latter wrote him a threatening letter in consequence of which he went and threashed him.

Drury resigned his position in the iron works a few days ago and left for Salton yesterday as soon as he, got out of fall, where he has secured a better job.

ary Societies Unite.

The home and foreign missionary work of the Immanuel Presbyterian Church will henceforth be conducted by one organization, instead of by two separate ones as in the past. The first meeting of the combined workers took place yesterday, lasting from 10 to 3. Mrs. Samuel Minor was in the chair and Miss E. H. Parsons at the secretary's desk.

The various committees read interesting reports, and Mrs. F. H. Shoemaker, the treasurer, reported on the state of the finances. Mrs. Herriott, Mrs. Coiner, and Mrs. Parks spoke on missionary topics. The Misses Moore gave a very interesting account of their work at Las Vegas, Mexico.

The society then adjourned until the next regular meeting, the second Tuesday in August.

Bitten by a Dog.

A vicious dog belonging to a man named Levy, attacked David Vivian yesterday afternoon, while the latter was delivering coal at Levy's house on Aliso street. The animal's fangs lacerated Vivian's wrist, leg and groip. Dr. Bryant stitched up the wounds in the Police Hospital and applied remedies to prevent hydrophobia. Vivian's injuries are very painful and will cause him great inconvenience.

. Prices made on the lot to clear the floor for fall goods There will be lively times this fall in the big Cloak Dept. Now a lot of Jackets that have been selling for $10 go to $1.50—another lot that has been selling as high as $20 goes to $5-all good styles, all have the big sleeves. Too many Jackets—that is the reason. What we advertise is true—it is true that trade is far ahead of a year ago.

A little lot of Separate skirts, $5 and $7.50, all wool. A few choice things in all wool suits for $7.50 and $10. Why bother and worry with the making. Cheaper and better Night gowns that are a revelation in fine work. Fine material, new styles, made full and large. Nothing skimped about these gowns only the price-$1, $1.25, $1.50 and $2. Figures give but little information; you should see the goods. Take a look at how straight the seams run and how fine the finish. Lace and Embroidery very much finer and better than the average. Muslin stronger and finer than usual. Very necessary for good wear. These gowns are far superior to anything yet shown for one-third more money. Sailor Hats.

There is where the big business is done; selling more sailors than any six other houses. Facts, strong facts. Sailors that are selling all over the city for $1 and $1.25, here in abundance for 50c, 3-inch brim, 3½-inch crown; black and white, trimmed with a good quality of ribbon; like the baker's bread, they are fresh every day. legality of the action by which the board declared the office of Superintendent of Schools vacant.

Even if Prof. Search should not win his suit, the case can be continued in a way that will make life very unpleasant for the "solid six" who stood together in the deposing of the professor. During the progress of the suit the salray of the present superintendent could not be paid, and a series of complications would ensue, as a result of the suit, the contemplation of which is expected to fill the "solid six" with dread.

expected to fill the "solid six" with dread.

Members of the board declare that the professor fancies that he has a cinch in the matter and hopes to force the board into the payment of his demand. They also state that Prof. Search wishes to have a hand in the compilation of the annual report of the city schools, in which they think he would vigorously lambast them for their action in dispensing with his system of individualism.

Friends of Prof. Search declare, on the contrary, that the professor simply desires to be allowed to retire from the field in an honorable and dignified way, and in such a manner as not to cast a blot upon his educational reputation.

The entire matter is deemed of such importance by the Board of Education as to demand another special session this morning, at 10 o'clock, when the board will sit as a committee of the whole in 'discussion of the subject.

greatest regret for the contemplated actions of the two gentlemen.

"I have no hesitation in saying," remarked the Mayor, "that it would be almost impossible to improve upon either Mr. Barham or Mr. Webber as police commissioners. They are both of the stamp of men whom it is very desirable to have in the public service. Both strictly honest, capable and conscientious men, a credit to the positions they occupy, and the city they serve. I shall endeavor to dissuade them, if possible, from the action they contemplate taking."

Commissioner Webber emphatically denies the rumor that his resignation is due in any measure to circumstances connected with the ministerial union, and the social evil. Mr. Webber states that for several months he has contemplated resigning his position, as he has found that to give the proper attention to his political duties requires altogether too much of a busy man's time. Mr. Webber expects to formally resign his position on August 1.

Whistling" Davis Was Examine Before Justice Young.

Much interest was excited yesterday by hearing the odd "cranks" of S. O. Davis of Long Beach rehashed in the Justice Court, and the room was filled nearly all day. Much of the morning was consumed am impanelling a jury, but the ex-amination opened shortly before noon. Davis and his wife were the main obamination opened shortly before noon.

Davis and his wife were the main objects of attention, and it was small wonder. The old man was tall, gaunt and bony, baldheaded and white-bearded, with vague blue eyes and an absent manner. He was dressed like a rancher in his Sunday clothes, and balanced a straw hat upon his knée while listening with grave attention to the proceedings. His wife was a picture of rural simplicity. Artlessly attired in a brown calico frock, blue apron. white sunbonnet and cow-hide shoes, she brought a small market-basket into yourt with her, and guarded it religiously from the potential villains around her.

The examination brought forth no new points. The charge was refusal to bury the body of his child, and the evidence of the witness called was but a repetition of the story already published.

A boy baby of the queer couple died repetition of the story already published.

A boy baby of the queer couple died about six years ago. As it was in the time of a freshet, and the land about his place was flooded and marshy, Davis put the box which inclosed the little coffin into about a six-inch excavation in his garden, and heaped straw and earth over it. There it remained for three years or more, when, expecting another overflow, and for the additional reason that the children from the school near by insisted on digging in the mound, the old man and his wife exhumed the box and placed it in the ceilar under the house.

Another overflow came, and the walls of the cellar caved in, so the little coffin was placed under the porch, where it was found by Humane Officer Hutchins, who removed it and arrested Davis.

It was proved by the defense that Davis had only buried the child in the garden temporarily, intending to take it up and bury it in the cemetry when the waters should have subsided sufficiently to allow it. The old man was anxious to keep the remains near him, as he wished them to be buried with himself and his wife in a family vault.

with himself and his wife in a ramily vault.

Deputy District Attorney Williams, who conducted the prosecution, pressed home the charge of failure to bury the child properly, while Dupuy & Hyatt, attorneys for the defense, rested their argument upon the point that the child was buried in accordance with the law.

The jury failed to agree, and late at night they were discharged.

For Burning a Barn.

For Burning a Barn.

A bit of Italian vendetta was exploited today in Department One during the trial of Angeleno del Monte, an Italian, for burning the barn of Mrs. Maria Cuneo, out in San Gabriel.

There was an old grudge between the two, Del Monte confessing that he "had not liked" Mrs. Cuneo since 1889. When Del Monte was sent to San Quentin four years ago for shooting one Correa, Mrs. Cuneo's son was a winess against him, which increased the bad blood between the families. Del Monte also asserted that, upon one occasion, Mrs. Cuneo had drugged him.

Taking it altogether he had a strong wish to "get even," and, when Mrs. Cuneo's barn was burned down in August, 1893, suspicion pointed strongly to Del Monte as having applied the torch, several people having seen him about there on the night of the fire, although he was heard of as being in Fresno three days before, and a few days after the occurrence.

The case was continued until Saturday.

W. L. Bevans was arrested and brought before Justice Young yesterday on the charge of having punched the head of Charles T. Off, a brother of J. W. A. Off, cashier of the State Loan and Trust Company. The trial was set for July 20.

THE SUPREME COURT.

Question of Title to Timber Claim Becided.

Two decisions were sent down rester-day from the Supreme Court, one being upon the case of Cooper vs. Wilder, an action to quiet title to a timber claim in San Diego county.

The claim in question was taken up by David Cooper, in 1881. Mr. Cooper died two years later, leaving all his property to his wife, to the exclusion of his infant son, Charles Edward Cooper.

his infant son, Charles Edward Cooper. The widow mortgaged the timber claim to H. G. Wilder, which mortgage was subsequently foreclosed and the land purchased at sheriff's sale by Wilder. This action was entered by Edward Dorman, guardian of the infant Charles Edward Cooper, to quiet the title of the infant plaintiff to the claim in ques-

Industry Cooper, to quiet the title of the infant plaintiff to the claim in question. Judgment was entered in favor of the defendant, from which judgment and from an order denying his motion for a new trial, the plaintiff appealed. The appealant contends that David Cooper, having died within two years after making his entry, could not have complied with the law, which required him to bave planted and for not less than eight years to have cultivared, the trees which gave him the right to receive his patent to the land, and also that the claim was established by, and the grant made to, the heirs of David Cooper, deceased.

the grant made to, the heirs of David Cooper, deceased.

The decision of the court is that the provisions of the Timber Culture Act are practically the same as those of the Homestead Act, as far as the title goes; that the probate proceedings of the will of David Cooper, and the evidence of the mortgage and foreclosure thereof, were properly admitted; and that the judgment and order of the lower court should be affirmed.

DECISION LIPON BOUNDARY

DECISION UPON BOUNDARY. The case of D. Herbert Hostetter vs. the Los Angeles Terminal Railway Company, an action in the nature of ejectment to recover the possession of a certain tract of land 100 feet in width and 1936 feet in length, situated within the boundary lines of the city of Los Angeles and 1936 feet in length, situated within the boundary lines of the city of Los Angeles.

In the year 1868 the city had the title to the realty, and the plaintiff and appellant claims title, as successor in interest of the grantees of the city. The city conveyed certain lands to plaintiff's predecessors in interest, and he now claims that those deeds carried the city's title to the property involved in this litigation, and it is upon the construction of those deeds that the merits of the present case depend.

The two deeds grant to Thomas Rowan and to Prudent Beaudry the two lots in dispute.

The land lies upon the east side of the Los Angeles River, and the river at high water is confined upon the east side by a precipitous bank of some 200 feet in height. The bed of the river varies with the rainfall and the changing seasons.

At the date of the city's deeds, the official width of the river bed had been established, and this land forms that part of the actual river bed lying east of its official bed.

The plaintiff claims that the city sold the land to the east line of the official bed; the land to the high blunf. The appellant contends that the river is a natural monument, making the west line of the tract, but as the line crosses the river and goes beyond, it is declared to be the boundary line.

The judgment and order of the lower court are affirmed.

PROF. CATES.

The Ex-Principal of the High School Talks.

There were not very many surprises for the public when the list of teachers recommended by the Teachers' Committee of the Board of Education was mittee of the Board of Education was read by the clerk at the meeting of last Monday night, but among the few unexpected things shown in the selections made was that produced by the decapitation of Prof. Cates as principal of the High School.

The friends of the professor were confident in the belief that his re-election to the principalship was an assured certainty, and his deposition from the position held by him during the past two years has created much comment.

Members of the Board are free to state that while Prof. Cates's ability as an organizer is exceptionally good, yet in the qualities which go to make a successful executive he is lacking. The trouble experienced during the past year between the members of the senior class of the High School and Prof. Cates, did not redound greatly to the credit of the professor among the members of the Board of Education. They fancied that a number of mistakes were made during Prof. Cates's administration which could have been avoided if the head of the administration had exercised a more perfect judgment as an executive.

With this feeling prevailing among ercised a more perfect judgment as an executive.

With this feeling prevailing among the members of the board it is not strange that a change was made in the principalship of the school.

Prof. Cates naturally feels rather sore over this action, and there have been rumors, vouched for by members of the board, that he was contemplating a removal from the city, to take a position offered him by an Eastern educational institution.

ing a removal from the city, to take a position offered him by an Eastern educational institution.

Prof. Cates, when seen last evening, was not disposed to be communicative upon the subject, but intimated that no position in the High School of Los Angeles would be acceptable to him, saving the position at its head. His successor, Prof. Housh, having been his subordinate for several years, it is natural that Prof. Cates should dislike to serve under him.

It is understood that the board is ready to appoint the ex-principal of the High School to the principalship of the Spring-street school, lately rendered vacant by the election of Prof. Ennis to the office of deputy superintendent of city schools.

It is an open question as to whether Prof. Cates will accept this position, in spite of the fact that he is disinclined to leave Los Angeles. There are several moons yet to pass between now and September, and in the interim the professor intimates that he may shake the dust of the city from his sandals and betake himself to pastures new.

Feminine spite is a strange thing, id many and devious are the ways in hich it is expressed, but the scene in hich it is expressed, but the scene in and many and devious are the ways and many and devious are the scene in Judge Van Dyke's courtroom yesterday afternoon, and the events which led up to it, were about as lurid an example of pure "cussedness" as can be found. One prepossessing, frall-looking little woman sat before the bar of justice, with a physician on either side of her and a crowd of interested spectators standing around, while along the railing behind her were seated a string of old hens, fairly thirsting for her gore. It all sprang out of a neighborhood row. Mrs. O. S. Ihrig is a quiet little Swedish woman, residing at No. 207 West Thirtieth street, with her husband, who works in the Excelsior Laundry, and her little four-year-old girl. Mrs. Ihrig's lungs are weak, so that she cannot stand dust. She is also excessively neat, and likes to see everything about her spotless and shining with cleanliness.

thing about her spotless and shining with cleanliness.

The Ihrigs own their little home, and were very comfortable there had it not been for one drawback. A driveway ran between their house and that of one, J. J. Mabb, and the dust raised by the travel over this road made Mrs. Ihrig so uncomfortable that she requested her husband to have it closed 'up.

made Mrs. Ihrig so uncomfortable that she requested her husband to have it closed up.

He, accordingly, sent for a surveyor, and ascertained the exact position of the boundary-line of his lot, which line ran down the center of the road. A carpenter was next called in, and instructed to build a wooden fence-just one inch on Ihrig's side of the line, which was done.

Then Rome howled. The neighborhood rose as one man and protested loud and long. The Mabbs, one and all, breathed forth threatenings and slaughter until the erstwhile quiet neighborhood became a daily battleground.

Mrs. Ihrig had a temper of her own, and defended herself with vigor against the onslaughts of the ladies across the fence, so that times were far from peaceful, especially as the Mabbs were wont to disport themselves in an artless, Japanese fashion, by hanging carpets on the intervening fence and beating them vigorously; sweeping their side of the road in such wise as to raise whirliwinds of dust; squirting water from their garden hose into the Ihrigs' windows, and indulging in many friendly little compliments of an equally graceful character.

Mrs. Ihrig endeavored to protect her property, and many were the verbal scrimmages indulged in over the fence of contention.

Mrs. Mabb was doing the carpet-beat-ing dear and seat-ing and seat-ing of contention.

Mrs. Mabb was doing the carpet-beating act one day, when Mrs. Ihrig salled forth and peremptorily ordered the carpet to be taken off her fence. Mrs. Mabb pleasantly replied: "You are a low-down beast! Go into the house. You are too low for me to speak to," adding a few more compliments of a nature to provoke Mrs. Ihrig into hotly retorting that were she a girl she would kill any woman who addressed her in such language, but she had a husband who would protect her from insult.

husband who would protect her from insult.

Thereupon Mrs. Mabb's heart waxed faint within for excess of fear, and she urgently requested her. Hega lord to do the protection act on the Mabb side of the fence.

The obedient Mabb straightway hied him to the sheriff and swore to a warrant for the arrest of Mrs. Ihrig on the charge of lunacy.

Deputy Sheriff Byam was directed to take a hack and produce the body of Mrs. Ihrig in court. Wishing to know what lay before him, he made inquiries as to the description of the mania he had to deal with, whereupon Mabb drew such a harrowing picture of violence that Mr. Byam hastily provided himself with straps, "muff," handcuffs, etc., and called in Deputy Sheriff Guy Woodward to assist him in the capture of this human tigress.

A hack was called, and the two officers sallied forth to surround the enemy. Mabb had promised to inform Mr. Ihrig of the arrest of his wife, and have him present in court, but, unfortunately, his memory falled him, and Ihrig was ignorant of the neighborly proceedings of the Mabbs until sent for by the sheriff after the arrest was made.

A slender, fair-haired little woman

A slender, fair-haired little woman pened the door, and politely greeted he two officers, who nearly fell over ach other upon learning that this was he "lunatic." Mr. Byam began autiously to feel his way, but Mr.

cautiously to feel his way, but Mr. Woodward released the proverbial feline inmate of a figurative bag by blurting out in tones bristling with astonishment: "Why, that woman is no more crazy than I am!"

Mrs. Ihrig's surprise equalled that of the two officers, but they explained the nature of their errand, and she at once put on her hat and quietly announced her readiness to accompany them.

The whole Mabb faction dashed into the courtroom, eager for the fray, and scenting the battle from afar. Mr. Ihrig appeared, ready to defend his wife, and Mrs. T. Bright, C. D. Blanford, Hans Bonfillo and O. L. Thrig also came forward as witnesses in her behalf.

AN UNCLAIMED WATCH.

How Officer Shannon Prevented the

Several days ago W. J. Gordon found a lady's gold watch in front of the Temple Block on Main street. A woman who saw him pick it up rushed up to him and said: "That is my watch." Belleving she had lost it he gave it to her. Something about her appearance, however, aroused his suspicions, and he reported the matter to Officer Shannon, who was at his usual post of duty, at the Temple Block point. The woman had meantime boarded a horsecar, but the officer overhauled her and questioned her so sharply that she admitted the watch was not her property, but that it belonged to a friend who had dropped it.

that it belonged to a friend who had dropped it.
Officer Shannon took the watch, and said that her friend could get it by calling at the police station and proving it belonged to her. No one has yet called for it. The woman who tried to make way with it said her name was Smith, and claimed that she lived at No. 300 First street, but no such person resides there.

TO HUNT SEA LIONS.

AN EXPEDITION BEING FITTED UI

Mexican Islands-It Will be a dertaking and Expected to be Profitable.

SAN DIEGO, July 11 .- (Special Corre chooner recently drawn up on the ma rine ways on North Island, across the bay from this city, for repairs, is engaged in a hazardous business which the crew rather enjoy because of the element of danger and sport there is in it. The vessel carries bunters of the hair seal or California sea lion to the outlying islands several hundred miles down the coast. These enemies of the seal lion are bold, patient men, who shoot accurately and quickly with a Winchester rifle. They are prepared for a voyage of four months or more cruising about the rookerles of the seals, landing on the islands in small boats and surprising their prey as frequently as possible with a shower of well-directed bullets. These seals are very wary. They climb out of the sea upon rocky ledges and enoy themselves in the sun. An old bull usually has sir or eight wives. Occasionally the husbands get mad. They fight viciously with other males and are very jealous of their families, Paternal affection for the pup seals is marked. The daddles labor earnestly teaching the children to swim. Strange to say the pups are averse to the water at first, but after a time they enjoy a frolic in the surf as keenly as do the old folks.

The skins of these bulls, cows and pups are what the hunters seek. They land upon an island and sneak up behind hundreds of fond seals sunning on the rocky ledges or rookeries. Then the begins. The hunters raise their rifles and fire as many shots as possible before the herd of hundreds of seals tumble into the sea. Each bullet is sent into an animal's skull, if the hunter aims properly, and death is instant. Only a brain wound causes instant death. If wounded elsewhere the seal usually gets into the sea and sinks before the herd disappears into the sea. The hides are quickly removed and sent aboard ship and salted down. When the vessel js filled the cargo is taken to San Francisco and sold for 3 to 6 cents per pound. Pup hides are the most valuable. These become with their rifles that they frequently fire sixteen shots, each of which kills a seal, before the herder and sold for 3 to 6 cents per pound. Pup hides are the most valuable. LIQUOR ORDINANCE.

Limit the Number of License A Bicycle Challenge Accepted Next Tax Levy.

RIVERSIDE, July 11.—(Regular Correspondence.) The Supreme Court in a decision in a San Bernardino case having practically knocked a big hole in sec. 9 of the Riverside county liquor regulations by deciding that the City Trustical ways and the county liquor regulations by deciding that the City Trustical Manual Liquor Regulations and the county liquor regulations are considered to the control of the county liquor regulations and the county liquor regulations are considered to the county liquor regulations and the county liquor regulations are considered to the county liquor regulations and the county liquor regulations are considered to the county liquor regulations and the county liquor regulations are considered to the county liquor regulations and the county liquor regulations are required to the county liquor regulations and the county liquor regulations are required to the county liquor regulations and respectively. ulations by deciding that the City Trus-tees must grant a license to sell liquors to any one complying with the provi-sions of the ordinance on the broad ground that a license cannot be granted one man and refused another under the same conditions, the Supervisors have passed an ordinance amending sec. 9, passed an ordinance amending sec. 9, which amendment seeks to cure the defect in the original ordinance, to the better guard against issuing too many licenses in a community—this being the better guard against issuing too many licenses in a community—this being the object of the Board of Supervisors. The particular portion of the new section affecting the point desired at that "the Board of Supervisors may order the license issued, provided that any person residing in the voting precinct where it is proposed that such business shall be carried on, may file with the clerk of the Board of Supervisors before the first day of the term at which such application is to be heard, a protest in writing against the issuing of such license, giving the reasons why such license should not be issued. The Board of Supervisors shall deny said application for license, and refuse to allow a license to issue thereunder, if, upon such hearing it shall appear to the satisfaction of the board either that the application for such license is an unfit and not a proper person to have or to hold such license, or that the statements contained in such application are wilfully untrue, or that there is any other sufficient reason for such refusal, whether shown by protest on file, location of saloon, number of saloons in the immediate vicinity, or otherwise." It is thought this amendment will pass muster even before the Supreme Court,

CHALLENGE ACCEPTED — TIME CHALLENGE ACCEPTED - TIME

Mention has been made of W. D. Newerf of Perris having challenged J. D. S. Peach, the swift rider of South Riverside, for a bicycle race for any distance from a quarter of a mile to twenty miles on a wager of $100. No sooner had the challenge become known to Mr. Peach than he and his friends arranged for a meeting with Newerf and his friends for yesterday evening to accept the challenge and arrange details. The race will be twenty miles over the Magnolia avenue course, ten miles south from the central portion of Riverside and return, and will be run next Tuesday morning, starting at 10 o'clock. Böth parties being association men, they will not race for money, but a prise worth not less than $40 nor more than $100 will be contested for. Just how much money will change hands on the outside is problematical, as blood is up, and it is not thought even $100 will reach the amount. Friends of both men are confident. Mention has been made of W. D. RIVERSIDE COUNTY BREVITIES.

RIVERSIDE COUNTY BREVITIES.

There was an informal discussion by the Board of Supervisors Wednesday morning over what the next county levy should be. It was the unanimous opinion of those present that the rate should be what it was last year, for the reason that as it now is there is a part of the year in which there is no money in the treasury to pay warrants, and people holding warrants are not only compelled to sell their warrants at a discount, thereby working an unjust hardship, but when the warrants are presented and are stamped "not paid for want or funds," thay commence bearing interest, which the county must pay. The fact that the money has been provided for in the levy and will eventually be paid into the treasury does not obviate the difficulties mentioped. By keeping the tax levy at what it is, it is expected to have enough money in the treasury at all times to meet demands as they become due, thus saving the trouble and payment of interest.

WOULDN'T MOVE ON. A Prominent Citizen Arrested for Ob

structing the Sidewalk. For some nights past a crowd of men has been obstructing the streets at the corner of First and Main, where they would congreagate and engage in animated discussions on various social, religious and political topics. Each night the crowd seemed to grow larger, and at last became such a nuisance that Chief of Police Glass gave instructions to his men to disperse the assemblage. Sergt. Jeffries went to the spot yesterday evening and ordered everybody to move on, and partially succeeded in clearing the street. Most of the men, however, simply fell back to the sidewalk, which was soon in a state of blocade. Officer Reynolds came to the sergeant's assistance, and every man who refused to move on when so ordered he placed under arrest.

The first victim was G. A. Frederick, who was taken to the station, but released on depositing $5 bail. Reynolds then went back and arrested A. J. Young, of the well-known contracting firm of Mackay & Young. Mr. Young did not take his arrest kindly; in fact, he was highly indignant at being so treated. He, also, was released on bail. The officer then went out and brought in a third victim named J. A. Oliver. By this time the crowd had thinned out, and there was no further trouble.

PEOPLE WHO ARE LOOKING FOR BARGAINS.

The Growing Influence of Railwa Lines on the Real Estate of the City.

What the New Directory Tells Abou the Growth of the Crown of the Valley.

The March of the Oil Men-Pleasur Resorts as Real Estate Investments-Santa Monica-Street

We are now in the middle of the sum of what used to be called the "dull n," and when one calls on a real ate agen't for some news he is likely be told that the agent is down at the ach or up in the mountains, or if the ent is at home he will tell you that et of the buyers are out in the counry, which amounts to about the same hing, as far as getting any real estate

LOOKING FOR SNAPS. This, however, is quite a different ind of "dull season" from those which kind of "dull season" from those which have preceded it during the past half a dozen years. Scarcely a day goes by without seeing some small transaction closed up, while there is a steady demand for anything that is particularly cheap in either business or residence property. There appear to be a number of people who are waiting for an opportunity to get something for nothing—or next to nothing—because it is the dull-season, and they have always heard that one may pick up snaps at this time of year in Los Angeles. These people are likely to be badly disappointed this year and some of them are finding it out. There never was a time in the history of Los Angeles when real estate was more firmly held by the owners than today. The average owner no longer has a big burden of mortgage resting on his property which he must lift or lose it. If he is pressed for money there is little difficulty in obtaining a loan on city property, provided the amount desired is not altogether out of proportion to the value of the lot. Owners are therefore independent, and besides they have every confidence in the future of the market and show no inclination to shade prices. The outlook continues excellent for a very good market for the coming winter and a rise in prices all along the line so those who really want to buy would do well to lose no time in making their purchases, as there is not the slightest probability that they will be able to buy to better advantage at a later day, unless we should have something awful in ave preceded it during the past half a chief feature of the market just the chief feature of the market just about this time is the marked influence which railroad extensions now under way or projected are having on property in the sections through which they are to run. In the southwestern part of the city, along the line of the Storrs road, there has been quite an advance in the prices that are asked and obtained for property. It is reported that negotiations are under way which may result in extending this line a considerable distance beyond the present proresult in extending this line a considerable distance beyond the present proposed terminus at Park station. This line is being laid in a most thoroughly solld and substantial manner. It is, indeed, claimed for it that it is the most solidly-constructed line of street railroad in the United States. It does not look as if such a road as this was intended to stop permanently at the city limits.

Here, then, are three fields in which speculators may operate during the dull season with a fair certainty that any purchase judiciously made in these sections will yield a profit of from 25 to 100 per cent. during the next six months. These, however, are only three out of a large number of openings for judicious investment in the city just now. There are, besides these, the extension of the oll field in a northeasterly direction, which gives value to lots that were scarcely saleable heretofore; the extension of the manufacturing industry, which gives prospective value to the lowlands along the river; the march of the business section, which is bringing forward streets that were never thought of for anything but residence or possible retail business thoroughfares, and then, above all, the steady increase in the population and wealth of the city, which leads to a continued demand for new houses and for land upon which to build them.

It is, therefore, not at all surprising that those sentlemen who was and to the continued that those sentlemen who was and to the continued that those sentlemen who was and to the continued that those sentlemen who was and to the continued that those sentlemen who was and to the continued that those sentlemen who was and to the continued that those sentlemen who was and to the continued that those sentlemen who was and to the continued that those sentlemen who was and to the continued that those sentlemen who was and to the continued the city.

new nouses and for land upon which to build them.

It is, therefore, not at all surprising that those gentlemen who are sitting around and waiting for 'soft snaps' in the way of lots at a fraction of their value are not meeting with much en-

One of the places in this section that has been making a remarkably steady, growth during the past couple years without boasting much about it is Passdena. With the possible exception of San Diego, there was no place in Southern California where the real estate boomers went to such an extent as in Passdena. Business property on Colorado street was run up to $700 a front foot and everything else in proportion. Naturally the reaction from this unreasonable inflation was very severe and there were, indeed, some who predicted that Passdena would never be able to recover. Things did look vary blue up there for several years after the boom. The natural attractions of the beautiful Crown of the Valley were too great to be suppressed, and during the past couple of years the city has been forging ahead at a rate that has surprised even its friends. Who would have dared to predict even during the height of the boom that within eight years Pasadena would be connected with Los Angeles by four lines of ratiroad, with another one under consideration?

A Passdena directory has just been unlitted by the same firm which got not the Los Angeles directory, and it quite a large volume, fully as large the Los Angeles directory was just before the boom. From this it may be seen that the little settlement which consisted chiefly of a grocery store and a few cottages a dozen years ago, is now quite a little metropolis as far as every line of business is concerned. Pasadena has a great reputation as an artistic and musical center, so it is not surprising that there are twenty-six artists and fourteen music teachers. Among other business and professions represented, there are sixteen attorneys, over one hundred contractors, fifty dressmakers, twenty greeeries, sixteen hotels, twenty agents, fifty-four physicians and forty-four real estate dealers. Certainly it is a fairylike transformation that has taken place on the old San Pasqual tract during the past ten years. The record of the past is, however, likely to be outdone during the coming decade. Acreage property between Pasadena and the foothills is still held at prices that are very moderate, considering the certainty of a big demand for residence sites in this choice section during the next few years. It cannot be long before Pasadena and Altadena will be built up solid.

THE OIL INDUSTRY. The oil industry continues to bear so closely on the real estate business that it is difficult to separate the two. The recent decision of Judge Van Dyke has recent decision of Judge van Dyke has caused some consternation among property-owners, and there is now a movement on foot to have the City Council extend the fire limits. Meantime the more successful and progressive among the property-owners in the hill section are beginning to admit that the industry is too important a one to be shut down upon altogether, and some be shut down upon altogether, and some of them are even thinking of going into the oil business themselves. Land and Water contains the following sensible remarks on this subject:

"The oil problem is probably one of the most vexing that has ever presented itself to the city for solution.

Nextly it is a property of the city for solution. sented itself to the city for solution. Happily it is not complicated with politics or local party factions, but remains, though difficult, a purely business proposition. It is scarcely a case of 'Put yourself in his place,' for you would yet be found on both sides of it, held by counter interests. Rather it is in the office of a court, the city stands 'to adjust righteously a cause It is in the office of a court, the city stands, to adjust righteously a cause in which both sides contain something of right. To hold the rights and privileges of its citizens, and, if needs be, adjust from the guarded property of all, the necessary losses of a part. That some within the recognized oil field must suffer pecuniary loss, is admitted, but because this is so, is not a reason why the oil field should be grossly limited, or barred out entirely. Honest leases and purchases have been made, and honest labor and capital put into the lands thus gained, creating made, and honest labor and capital put into the lands thus gained, creating rights as sacred as the rights of any."

The proposition should be met squarely; rights admitted, and damages by reason of the granting of those rights legally recognized. The land upon which a part of Los Angeles stands is not sacred ground, nor is it all the ground subject to the city's needs. If the march of an important industry demands a part, grant it, move onward toward the sea or the mountains.

industry demands a part, grant it, move onward toward the sea or the mountains.

If older cities can afford to condemn, purchase and remove every mark of life from certain areas, that thus puried, and fittingly rebuilt, the city's tone of health and morals may be raised, this city can afford to clear and broaden the way for so important an industry—an industry that purchases its way, leaving no moral taint, but rather streams of wealth behind.

RESORTS AS INVESTMENTS.

The summer season has turned the thoughts of a good many real estate inthoughts of a good many real estate investors and speculators to the possibilities for profit which are offered in Southern California in the direction of establishing seaside and mountain resorts. Nature has done much for Southern California in this direction, but so far man has done very little, which is not to be wondered at, considering that this section is as yet quite thinly populated, so that the proprietors of such resorts have to rely mainly upon outsiders for support, and, although the crowd of visitors to Southern California is large and is growing ern California is large and is growing larger rapidly, it is not sufficient to sup-port many thoroughly first-class re-

Another line that is having an excellent influence on the price of property in that neighborhood is the new electric road along Kuhrts street, which will be in running order very shortly. This line will enable people to reach the East Side Park in a very short run from the business center and will doubtless have the effect of making that beautiful park as popular a resort as Westlake Park now is, Lots around the park, which have been selling at extremely low prices are now much more firmly held.

The third line that is, having a stimulating effect on real estate is that which is projected to run to Boyle Heights by way of Fourth street. It is said that the building of this line is assured. It will tap Hollenbeck Park and the ultimate object of the projectors is said to be to extend the line as far as Whittier. Lots in Boyle have a subject to the projectors is said to be to extend the line as far as Whittier. Lots in Boyle have a subject to the project many thoroughly first-class resorts. What can be done in this direction may be seen in Switzerland, a little country which is not more than two-thirds as large as San Bernar-lino county, and composed largely of locks in every year from tourists and bealth-seekers a great deal more money than is received for all the crops raised in Southern California. Switzerland is received for all the crops raised in Southern California. Switzerland is received for all the crops raised in the heart of Europe, and the Swiss have understood how to make the best of their opportunities in this direction. The Swiss are born border and the line as far as Whittier. Lots in Boyle sent abroad to take a regular course of training as waiters, and incidentally to learn the languages of various countries. The roads of Switzerland are as level as billiard tables, winding over the highest mountain ranges, and in the most unexpected places the visitor finds large and thoroughly well-appointed hotels. Some of these are perched right among the glaciers, and can only be kept open during three months of the year, yet the service is perfect, and one may frequently see a couple of hundred people sitting down to an excellent table d'hote dinner, every article upon the table having been laboriously packed up the mountain on muleback. Even under these discouraging circumstances the proprietors of the hotel manage to make them pay well. There is a lesson in this for Southern California which some of our shrewd investors will doubtless not permit to let go unheeded. While Switzerland is the playground of Europe, there is no reason why Southern California should not become the playground of the United States. While this section is much further away from the great centers of population, we have the great advantage of a climate which permits such resorts to be kept open, not only for three or four months, but, with the exception of the highest mountain peaks, during every month of the year. Then, again, we have the choice between the mountain and the ocean, from one to the other of which the visitor may pass in two or three hours.

Until a couple of years ago the accommodations for visitors in the mountains of Southern California were very primitive. Then an innovation was made by the construction of a cable road up Echo Mountain, after the fashion of several roads of this description which have been built in Switseriand, and up a few mountains in this country. This enterprise having proved remarkably successful, the attention of a good many people has been turned in this direction, and it is likely that during the next few years we shall see country. This enterprise having proved remarkably successful, the attention of a good many people has been turned in this direction, and it is likely that during the next few years we shall see a number of similar enterprises undertaken. One project of this kind was mentioned in the Ontario correspondence of The Times a few days ago. It was nothing less than a project to establish a mountain resort on Ontario peak. This would have to be done by means of a tunnel run into the mountain and thence by an upright shaft, through which an elevator would be run 3000 feet above the tunnel. This may be considered a wild idea, and possibly there is no real intention of undertaking it, but just such a work on a larger scale is about to be undertaken on the Jungfrau in Switzerland. With the rapid advance of engineering science, the wild project of today becomes the accomplished and paying fact of tomorrow. Another move in the Algoriton of establishing a new moun-ings for the investment of capital in this direction in Southern California today. Within a few years there will be a score of health and pleasure-seekers here for every one who visits Southern California at present. Then again, magnificent sites which would be considered a fortune to the owner in many countries gnay be purchased in Southern California today for a trifle. Take, for instance, that grand bluff south of San Juan Capistrano, in Orange county, which is referred to by Dana in his "Two Years Before the Mast." A townsite was laid out during the boom, but it never amounted to anything, and, as reported in The Times, the tract was sold a few weeks ago at a price that will yield a fair interest if the land is planted in barley.

Within a distance of twenty miles of the City Hall there are literally hundreds of sites from which views may be obtained that would attract the attention and command the admiration of thousands if they were only improved and advertised a little. Even within the city limits there are several spots from which most extensive and beautiful views may be obtained, and which it would certainly pay some enterprising person to improve. Such, for instance, as Lookout Mountain, the highest elevation in the city limits, which is only a little over a mile from the Courthouse, and the hill which lies just within the northeast corner of the city in East Los Angeles.

Just outside the city limits on the northwest, there are several hills from which a view may be had of a large part of the San Fernando Valley, and of the entire southern part of Los Angeles county, with the ocean shining in the entire southern part of Los Angeles county, with the ocean shining in the entire southern part of Los Angeles county, with the ocean shining in the entire southern part of the San Fernando Valley, and of the entire southern part of the san Fernando valley, and of the oty in East Los Angeles.

Just outside the city limits on the northwest, there are several hills from which a view may be had of a large part SANTA MONICA.

The prospect of the early completion of an electric railway to Santa Monica has had a stimulating effect on real estate at that place, and quite a number of small sales have been made there. During the past week Baron Hickey, the gentleman who owns an island in the Atlantic Ocean, purchased a lot on Ocean avenue for $1400, upon which he

The return of warrant on Echo Park road was recorded July 6. This warrant and assessment is not delinquent until July 12. After this date, the Street Superintendent will certify to the treasurer all amounts unpaid of $50 or over, and he will thereupon is sue ten-year bonds bearing 7 per cent. interest to H. J. Smith, assignee of Moir & Smith.

The July interest on all street improvement bonds was delinquent July 3, and the holders of these bonds have the privilege of instructing the treasurer not to receive the interest and to foreclose and sell the property.

The new State law in regard to the State purchasing all county and State taxes may affect the foreclosure sale of the street bonds.

BUILDING.

BUILDING. Few even of our own people, with the exception of those whose business has exception of those whose business has caused them to investigate the subject, fully realize the remarkable amount of building that has been going on in Los Angeles during the past year. From a statement recently published it is seen that Los Angeles ranked twelfth among the cities of the United States in the value of building permits issued for the month of May last. It was exceeded in this respect only by New York, Chicago, Boston, Philadelphia, Brooklyn, Baltimore, St. Louis, Detroit, Toledo, Cleveland and Buffalo. According to the eensus of 1890, Los Angeles ranked fifty-seventh in population among the cities of the country. It has advanced since then, but probably does not rank above the fiftieth. That a city which is only fiftieth in population should rank twelfth in the value of buildings erected is certainly very creditable to the standing of Los Angeles.

The value of building for that month in this city was $383,990, while her population, according to the last census, was $0,395. St. Paul comes next, with building permits aggregating for the month of May $357,225, and a popucaused them to investigate the sub sus, was 50,395. St. Paul comes next, with building permits aggregating for the month of May $857,250, and a population as per the last census of 133,-156. Indianapolis is next, with buildings coating $332,233, and a population of 105,436. Then in their order comes Pittsburgh, buildings, $317,474, population 236,617; Cincinnati, $222,765, population, 296,908: New Orleans, $228,492, population, 242,038; Washington, $213,-095, population, 230,382; Kansas City, $194,220, population, 122,716; Minneapolis, $193,100, population, 164,738; and Denver, $162,400, population, 106,713.

The Builder and Contractor notes the following uncontracted new work: Plans are being prepared for a two-story ten-room dwelling, for S. T. Towle, to be built on Santa Fe street; ing of twelve rooms, to be erected on Twenty-eighth street, opposite Severance street; cost, about $8000.

Plans are being drawn for George W. Mitchell for a six-room cottage, to be built in the Williamson tract; $2000.

Plans are being drawn for Charles Norton for a one-and-a-half-story eight-room colonial cottage, to be built on Winfield street; cost $2000.

Plans are being prepared for William C. Aiken for a two-story residence, to to be built on Hoover street, between Twenty-eighth and Twenty-ninth streets; cost $4000.

Nicholson, the ubiquitous hen-thier who was convicted by a jury a few who was convicted by a jury a few days ago and given a sentence of 120 days for stealing six chickens, was tried for stealing a dozen fowls yesterday. Thirty-six talesmen had been summoned from which to select a jury, but when his lawyer saw the determined look on the countenances of the thirty-six men, he concluded it were better for his client to waive a jury trial and plead guilty. Nicholson did so, grumblingly, remarking as he sat down that he only pleaded guilty to please his lawyer, knowing he could prove his innocence if accorded a fair trial. Today at 9:30 o'clock Justice Owens will sentence the defendant, and in view of his plea of guilty will probably let him down easier than in the

AN ILL-MANNERED CUR. His Master Got Fined for Chastising

Him.

Because Hugo Massonnier tried to teach his dog better manners, he was hauled up before Justice Owens yesterday and fined $3 for cruelty to animals. The cur had the bad habit of rushing out and barking at passers-by, and in order to cure him of the fault. Massonnier took him by the ears and flopped him up and down, winding up the punishment by tossing him in the air and letting him drop on the hard cement pavement, nearly breaking the poor animal's bones. Such cruel treatment awakened Officer Lenhausen's sympathies for the worthless "ki-yi," and he placed the Frenchman under arrest for cruelty to animals.

Massonnier paid his fine, and will be well satisfied provided the dog will hereafter observe the rules of etiquette laid down for the canine population of Aliso street. A Frenchman's dog, like his master, should always be polite.

HANDSOME CARRIAGE.

Negro Convicted-Jolly Sons of St provements-Shall the Reservoir be Coveredt-North Pasadena

PASADENA, July 11 .- (Regular Correspondence.) There are theirty-one gentlemen in this community who believe most enthusiastically in the timelieve most enthusiastically in the timehonored American doctrine, that "It is the business of the nation,

To increase the population," and when a patriotic duty is well performed are ready to give honor where honor is due, whether it be to Caesar or to Mayor Cox. These thirty-one gentlemen assembled on Wednesday evening at the City Hall between the hours of 8 and 9 o'clock, and sent word to the Mayor, who was enjoying his doice far niente and proudly contem-plating his twins beneath his own rooftree, that civic affairs demanded his attention, and requested him to hie straightway to the Recorder's office. This he did, and it was intimated to him by Recorder Rossiter, usually the most straightforward of bachelors, but for this occasion assuming a guile foreign to his character, that a mass-meeting of citizens was being held at the City Hall to discuss the burning question whether Passadens should take its water plain, or have literally "thrown in" a variety of vegetables and animals which, though small, have Latin names long enough to affright the boldest. When Mayor Cox arrived at the City Hall, about twenty gentlemen were arguing the "water question" in the most impassioned manner. Should the reservoirs be covered or not covered, was the question, and whether it was nobler in the faucet to suffer the stings and arrows of outrageous tadpoles, or plunge at once into a sea of bacteria, and by opposing end them. W. S. Gilmore presided, and, in his official capacity, called upon Recorder Rossiter for a speech. This was rather hard upon the Judge, but he had some few "ideas upon infants," which he was proceeding to disclose. He was explaining how to tell the age of a twin by looking at its teeth, when Marshal Buchanan wheeled in a handsome doubledecked baby carriage, which was fitted with two umbrellas and all the other conveniences for which extremely invenile twins are supposed to yearn, and this pieces of brilliant and materialistic eloquence quite eclipsed that of the oratorical kind. Presentation remarks appropriate to the occasion and the baby carriage were officed when the oratorical kind. Presentation remarks appropriate to the occasion and the baby carriage were officed when the company was assembled, might realize how blest he was Mayor Cox was overcome by the generosity of his friends, and could only volce his sentiments briefly and feelingly. He said he was sorry he could not give the twins the names of every gentleman present, and in accepting the handsome token of congratulation, did it with the modesty of a man who trusted to his contemporaries not to magnify fortu straightway to the the Recorder's of-fice. This he did, and it was intimated to him by Recorder Rossiter, usually the most straightforward of bachel-

Archie Hill, the colored youth who attempted, some time ago, to carve the vitals of the venerable Jerry Thomas, and who only succeeded in ripping the old gentleman's garments, was on trial for the offense in Recorder Rossiter's court. Thomas owed 35 cents to the employer of the saddle-colored youth with homicidal tendencies, and questioned the authority of Archie to collect the same. A quarrel ensued, resulting in the authority of Arche to collect the same. A quarrel ensued, resulting in the attempted bloodshed. Dist, Atty. Willis argued the case for the people, and Henry Woolner of Los Angeles appeared for Hill. The trial lasted until late in the afternoon, and drew a large crowd to the Police Court. The jury, consisting of Capt. Wakely, T. J. Jea, F. Conant, T. Crew, J. Horton, S. Weight and A. J. Brown, decided that Archie was guilty as charged, and he was accordingly given 120 days in the Los Angeles Jail.

SONS OF ST. GEORGE.

Sons of St. George are most o them loyal citizens of the realm presided over by Uncle Som, and do not "take their pleasures sadly," as it is said their brethren on the other side of the "big pond" are wont to do. Judging by their enjoyment of their entertainment Wednesday evening, they are a family of jolly sons, who enjoy society and its attendant amenities. G.A.R. Hall, where they held their entertainment, was hardly large enough to contain all the members of the society and their guests. The first part of the evening was devoted to the rendition of an excellent programme, consisting of a plano duet by Mmes. Moorehead and Stansbury; song, V. Hardwick; cornet solo, Miss Meek, Los Angeles; recitation, Miss Senecal; song, K. Carter. Mr. Barnes, Miss Minnie Young, Miss Clinch, A. Clare, J. Clinch and Prof. Stetson also took part in the programme. After the formal exercises, refreshments were served, and dancing was the order of amusement. hem loyal citizens of the realm presid

WATER IMPROVEMENTS. The Lake Vineyard Land and Water Company is laying new four-inch mains for the supply of North Moline, North Raymond and South Hudson avenue, in place of the two-inch pipe which has heretofore supplied those streets. This improvement will rectify, in many cases, the lack of pressure which is complained of in some localities along those streets, and will give better service. The Pasadema Land and Water Company is extending its pipes on Palm avenue to serve the western section of the city. It is said that the company deems it necessary to clean the Orange Grove reservoir once every ten days, and is seriously considering the covering of the receptacle as a matter of economy as well as healthfulness. So far as can be learned the Lake Vineyard Company has taken no decisive steps toward the covering of its reservoirs, but most of the directors favor the idea, the matter of expense alone standing in the way.

It will interest Pasadena people to know that they have in their midst two direct descendants of Maisonneuve, the founder of the city of Montreal. They are Mrs. Col. Place and Miss Collamer, who reside on Howard street. A monument to Maison-neuve was unveiled July 1, in Montreal, with impressive ceremonies. It was from the chisel of Sculptor Hebert, assisted by the great Bartholdi, and a number of other French sculptors, and commemorates the founding of the city, and Maisonneuve's intendantship of twenty years.

Dr. Rosenberger, whose carriage was badly smashed through the carelessness of an electric motorman, has sent to the company a formal notification of the accident, as a hint of what the equitable arrangement of the affair should be. The running-gear of the vehicle was smashed beyond repair, the top and wheels alone being fit for use. So far the electric road has paid no attention to his communication.

T. P. Lukens is absent in the Yosemite Valley, where he expects to remain for three months. As Trustees Weed and Hamilton are both out of town, the City Council has not a force large enough for the transaction of business, and unless one of the absent Trustees should return before Monday, which is unlikely, there will be no meeting of the board next week.

Co. B will hold a competitive drill at the Armory Monday night, upon which occasion medais will be given, and the prize won by the company in the drill in Los Angeles on the Fourth of July will be presented by the officers of Co. C.

He was taken into the People's Bank. He was taken into custody by City Marshal Lorbeer, and the above facts elicited by query and examination, the discharge from the asylum being found upon his person. It seems, that his is of the emotional phase of insanity, and that his "fad" is in this line of destruction so far as property is concerned. The poor unfortunate was placed in the City Jail for safe-keeping, until the proper legal course in the matter can be taken.

Fell from a Stoop and Broke as Arm-Epworth League Enter-talament-The Farmers Institute Charged with Criminal Libel-News Notes.

SANTA ANA, July 11.—(Regular Correspondence.) A report has been current on the streets in Santa Ana the past several days that the new Lay-man property on Sixth street would in a short time be dedicated to the Catha short time be dedicated to the Cath-ollos for a nunnery. As the A.P.A's are quite strong in Santa Ana, the re-port does not seem to be very well founded. Joseph Yoch, the owner of the property, could not be seen today in regard to the possibility of the es-tablishment of such an institution, as he was out of the city.

A BROKEN ARM. A BROKEN ARM.

Mrss Halladay, wife of Daniel Halladay, who resides on East First street, fell from the front stoop early this (Thursday) afternoon, breaking her forearm near the wrist. The accident was very painful, and as Mrs. Halladay is well up in years, the injury assumes a more serious aspect.

noon, at 2 o'clock and continus until Saturday evening.

The soil-tillers are looking forward to a grand, good meeting, and, from present indications, they will have it. Valuable papers will be read at each session by practical husbandmen on subjects of at least general interest to every Southern California farmer. The institute will be occeed in the afternoon in Neill's Hail by an address of welcome by W. S. Taylor, Esq. There will be a response by Prof. E. J. Wickson of the University of California and Arthur Staley of Placentla will read a paper on "Walnut Culture," after which D. Edson Smith will make a short talk on the "Economy of Producing Home Supplies."

An interesting programme has been arranged for the evening session, during which several ladies, well known throughout the county, will take a prominent part.

This morning the gentlemen gave an informal reception on board the Lurline, a large party of ladies and gentlemen from the hotel going over to explore the yacht, which is a natty little craft, elegantly finished in natural wood, and with perfect appointments from her snug kitchen to the handsome staterooms, with accompointments from her snug kitchen to the handsome staterooms, with accom-modations for sixteen people. The yacht's pipe organ furnished music for the visitors, some of whom improved the occasion by keeping time in tripping measure on the deck's smooth floor. This afternoon at 3 o'clock the Lurline hoisted her salls and, firing a parting salute, sped away toward San Diego where she will cast anchor for a week the joint weight being seventy pounds. This is not saying that Dr. Johnson made the catch for the Bishop, but merely acted as guide and chaperone to the fishing banks round about Silver Canyon. Dr. J. W. Campbell was also of the party, but contented himself with watching the Bishop haul in the fish, conscious of the gratifying fact that a sermon next Sunday would be the result of the Bishop's success, as a previous arrangement had been made to the effect that if twenty-five pounds of fish were hooked by the Bishop a sermon at the First Methodist Church next Sunday would be forthcoming from him. If otherwise, the Bishop would occupy a pew in the aforesaid church and listen to Dr. Campbell's eloquence. As the matter stands, by the law of proportion, three sermons are now due from the Bishop.

Sir Knight E. A. Smith has received from Boston a sample of the official badge to be worn at the triennial conclave of Knights Templar, to be held there next month. It is of massive proportions, comprising a bar upon which is the word Boston, fianked on either side by an Indian and a Knight, surmounted by a knight's' helmet. Beneath this are the words "Twenty-sixth Triennial Conclave." Below this is the cross of Malta and cross of Salem resting upon which are the coat of arms of the Grand Commandery of Massachusetts and Rhode Island, which are in one jurisdiction, and around these the the words "Of the Grand Encampment of the United States." In connection with this is a button for the coat lapel in the form of a beanpot, upon which is the triple Cross of Salem and the letter "B," which may stand for Boston or beans, to suit the taste of the wearer. It is thought a number of Sir Knights will go from here.

SANTA MONICA

A Cow-stealing Case from Ballons-SANTA MONICA, July 11.—(Regular Correspondence.) The District Attor-ney's office has sent down for hear-ing before Justice Barackman a case ing before Justice Barackman a case of alleged cow-stealing from Ballona, which promises to solve a problem or two which caused a good deal of anx-lety among the owners a few months ago. Leland Sanford has been arrested lety among the owners a few months ago. Leland Sanford has been arrested upon a charge of stealing a cow. The alleged theft occurred in April last, about which time there was another case or two of similliar nature, W. H. Mears of Santa Monica being the loser of a valuable animal, as well as others. Suspicion at the time pointed to the accused, but the evidence was not considered sufficient to warrant his arrest. Newly-discovered evidence now adds to the presumption against young Sanford, and he will have opportunity to clear his skirts before the court here on Tuesday next. The accused is the brother of the young man acquitted some months ago from the charge of murder of one Valdez, on the ground of self-denfense. The Sanfords are well-to-do and long-time residents of Ballona, where they have always been well thought of:

There is current rumor on the streets here that the tax for the new South Side schoolhouse is to have hard sledding before it can be legally levied. A faction, said to be disgruntled over the selection of some of the teachers by the Trustees, is said to have agreed to get back at those officials by refusing them funds with which to advance the educational interests of the South Side. Just how any principle violated by the officials, if there be such, can be set right by cuffing Sam for John's impertinence remains for future demonstration. It is not apparent to the eye of the casual observer. However strange things are apt to be demonstrated when politics get mixed up with matters in themselves non-political.

Along the same line comes the proposition that & H Prince for two years.

with matters in themselves non-political.

Along the same line comes the proposition that G. H. Prince, for two years past a teacher in the High School, and who last year married into one of Santa Monica's leading families, will not be re-elected to his position when the board gets together next Saturday. The rumor has been sufficiently believed to call out a petition, which is being very generally signed, asking for Mr. Prince's retention.

H. V. Carter, president, Los Angeles, and A. Stedman and J. H. Bartel, directors, from Monrovia, were in town today, in attendance upon a directors' meeting of the local electric light company. Archer, judge; Moses Hostetter, clerk, and W. H. Mears, inspector. There are various rumors affoat of movements on foot to defeat the tax upon grounds entirely independent of the acknowledged need of the improvement, but whether or not, the vote will demonstrate an organized opposition to the proposition remains to be demonstrated next month.

Friends here have received information of the wedding of Blanche, daughter of D. L. Bancroft, late resident of Santa Monica. The wedding occurred in Waupun, Wis., June 28, and the lucky man was Clarence Shaler. Mr. Bancroft's 'family is summering in the East, but its members are said to be sighing for the cool ocean breezes, and despite the fact that Mr. Bancroft sold his home before leaving here, it is probable that they will resume their residence among us again before the end of the year.

The Odd Fellows installed officers at their hall here last evening, and indulged in a banquet and other civic festivities. Past Grand Master Stockwell of Los Angeles was present and took part in the exercises.

The Good Templars had a very pleasant time at their sociable Tuesday evening, the programme being very materially supported by the mandolin and guitar trio by Messrs. Saunders, Busier and Loule Volkmann.

Tuesday was the fifth anniversary of the marriage of Rev. and Mrs. G. H. Dekay, and a housefull of their friends took occasion to drop in toward evening and remind them of the fact. he Career of Lorenzo Stenhouse in Los Angeles and His Subsequent Arrest in Santa Cruz for Grand from the San Francisco Chron cle of July 10 will surprise the many friends and acquaintances of a mar house, but whose proper name turns out to be Lorenzo Stenhouse:

"Lorenzo Stenhouse, who gained con siderable notoriety some time ago by deserting his . wife to elope with a pretty Spanish girl named Virginia Es-cobar, was arrested in Santa Cruz last Monday night on a warrant charging him with grand larceny. His son, Gar-

"Almost a year ago Stenhouse and his family, consisting of his wife and two sons, arrived here from Salt Lake City. They stored their furniture in a warehouse, it being their intention to live in a boarding-house. Stenhouse, who is a fluent talker, readily secured a position as canvasser for a weekly paper. He continued in that capacity for some time, but was finally discharged for some irregularity. Shortly afterward the dark-eyed Virginia appeared on the scene and completely captivated Stenhouse. He fell desperately in love with her, and frequently neglected to provide for his family. Stories of their intimacy soon reached the ears of Mrs. Stenhouse, and she determined to watch the guilty couple. After satisfying herself of the correctness of the charge, she bitterly upbraided Stenhouse for his conduct, and threatened him with prosecution if he did not give the woman up. A few days later Stenhouse disappeared, and an investigation revealed that he had eloped with Miss Escobar.

"After leaving the city the guilty pair went to Monterey, where they lived together as husband and wife. A short time afterward Stenhouse's son received a letter from his father, in which he admitted that he had eloped with Miss Escobar, and asserting that under no circumstances would he again live with his wife. He requested that he be let alone, and cautioned his son against attempting to separate him from his 'new love.'

Knowing that his father had very little money when he left this city, his son suspected that he had sold the furniture which was stored in the warehouse had called at the warehouse the day before he left town, and sold the furniture which was stored in the warehouse. Thereupon he visited the latter place and found his suspicions were correct. The manager stated that Stenhouse. Thereupon he visited the latter place and found his suspicions were correct. The manager stated that Stenhouse had called at the warehouse the day before he left town, and sold the furniture to a second-hand dealer for grand larceny. He claim

Mr. Stenhouse first appeared in Los Angeles about six months ago, and at once secured a position with the City Directory Company. In the course of a few weeks he was joined by a woman whom he introduced as his wife. They whom he introduced as his wife. They secured apartments on Broadway at the Clifton, and to all appearances were a model married couple. The alleged wife was a handsome young woman of Spanish parentage, bright, attractive, and always dressed in the best leged wife was a handsome young woman of Spanish parentage, bright, attractive, and always dressed in the best style.

There is no doubt but that Stenhouse was much infatuated with her, and sacrificed all sense of duty to his family in her interest. It is said that he gave her all his income.

An intimate friend of Stenhouse stated to a reporter of The Times that he had talked with Stenhouse a few days prior to his departure from Los Angeles, the latter part of June, about his family affairs, and said that Stenhouse told him that he had sent his Spanish wife home to Santa Cruz, with the intention of never seeing her again, but that he could not live without her, and was going to Santa Cruz to see her, and would return in two weeks.

He also displayed a telegram from his son in San Francisco, urging him to come home to San Francisco, as he was wanted badly there. He did not return home, but went to Santa Cruz, at which place, he was arrested.

Stenhouse was a man of more than ordinary business ability, and made good wages while here in the city. He had cards showing that he had been the business manager of the San Francisco Wave, and had at one time published the Sait Lake City Directory. As far as known his business dealings here have been straight. Mr. Perry, of the Los Angeles City Directory Company, speaks of him in the highest terms from a business qualifications, the case is evidently one of woman's duplicity and man's weakness.

Stenhouse comes of a good family. His mother, who resides at present in this city, at No. 132 West Twelfth street, is an authoress and lecturer of some renown. She wrote the books "Tell it All" and "An Englishwoman in Utah," in which the infamies of polygamy are exposed by one who spent many years in the Mormon field.

LET HIM GO. SAN FRANCISCO, July 11.—The charge of grand larceny against Lorenzo Stenhouse, who was arrested on complaint of his son, was dismissed today. Stenhouse, who eloped with a Spanish woman, was accused by his son of selling property that belonged to his mother. Today in court young Stenhouse said that he did not care to prosecute his father, and asked that the case be dismissed.

UNDER THE HAMMER.

Wallace's Great London Show Sold for Debt.

Wallace's Great London Show was sold under the hammer yesterday by Deputy Constable Brakesuhler on attachment proceedings. The creditors, however, are far from being satisfied as the claims amounted to about $302, while the proceeds of the sale did not exceed $80. The big tent and the side-show canvass were knocked down to Wallace Eggert, a retail liquor dealer, who was the highest bidder for each. D. F. Donegan bought the three small tents for his boy, who is going to play circus in his father's backyard. Master Donegan did not bid quite high mough for the bass drum, but he went home a very happy boy nevertheless. old under the hammer yesterday by

A. HAMBURGER & SONS,

As predicted in yesterday's store news—the greatest sale ever held in Los Angeles in point of price lowness, the number of buyers, and the amount of millinery sold, will come to an end tomorrow night-We believe that such selling marks the dawn of a new day for Los Angeles' Merchandising-You have learned that there really can be such a thing as a genuine sale at which you really can make 50 cents buy a rounding dollar's worth. We do not believe you will find millinery at our present prices for many a long day to come. While dullness has been the rule on the street, you have packed the store day after day-hour by hour-Today and tomorrow only-Come today if you can-Trimmed and untrimmed hats-Flowers and Bonnet shapes at Half Price-Come before the curtain on this sale rings down.
